"New Jersey"

Foreword

We liken our New England Heritage to a sturdy tree which began its life as a tiny seed — a mere idea or dream in the minds of men. The seed found fertile soil and sent down roots that grew strong, nurtured by freedom, industry, perseverance, patriotism, and faith. As the young sapling suffered through storms, it was often bent but never broken; it was instead toughened and hardened until it grew to majestic height. . . .

George,
An extremely wonderful boy who kept me
company on the bus.
I had a wonderful summer and stay tube good.

Your friend always,
Carol Bonde

P.S. Tell Linda not to be angry
Remember when you wanted that day with the yellow Pontiac.

Today we enjoy the fruit and shelter of this mature tree. But, like any living thing, we cannot take it for granted; we must give it care and attention if we are to preserve our heritage for those who follow us.

Dedication

The New England founders were a simple, God-fearing people devoted to their work, who laid down the very first steppingstone to the America of today. For them the true essence of life was a faith — quiet, yet very deep and profound — in their hopes, in their way of life, and especially in their God. This faith is the foundation of our New England heritage. It was the symbol of worthiness which served as a beacon of perseverance and fortitude to the courageous men who molded and shaped the destiny of our nation. With self-reliance and rugged determination, they fully believed in the essential freedom of the individual, living under the rules of their God and their fellow man. Thankful to them for having endowed us with this inheritance, we, the class of 1959, dedicate this fourth edition of the GRYPHON to the renewal and continuance of the basic ideals of Our New England Heritage.

Administration

WARWICK VETERANS MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL

The functions of a school principal, Harold F. Scott, and his assistants, J. Irving Mournighan and Michael M. Morry, are far-reaching, as their duties range from the educational welfare of the group to the private needs of the individual; from the physical maintenance of a school plant to its meeting the needs of the students.

Our school administration is well known to us as a hard-working team with a great responsibility; responsibility to their superiors to operate an efficient educational institution; responsibility to our parents to present us with the greatest opportunities to acquire knowledge; responsibility to us as students to oversee our quests and failures with understanding and fairness; and most important, responsibility to themselves to do their job well and with a certain feeling which makes them our administration and our respected friends.

Administration

WARWICK SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

Charles B. MacKay, Superintendent of Warwick Schools, with his assistants, Horace E. Hobbs and Clarence S. Taylor, has complete responsibility for the administration of all schools — twenty-nine elementary schools, three junior high schools, and a consolidated high school — and for all educational services of the Warwick School Department. Through their combined efforts, they have raised our educational standards and have established firm policies for the guidance of a large school system. Mr. Hobbs is a familiar figure to students in the high school as it is his responsibility to supervise the educational policies of our secondary schools. In charge of the business and deliniation of policies of the system is Mr. Taylor, whose many duties include the supervision of the school cafeteria, health, transportation, custodial, and maintenance programs. It is through the conscientious dedication of these men to their work, that the city of Warwick boasts such an excellent education system.

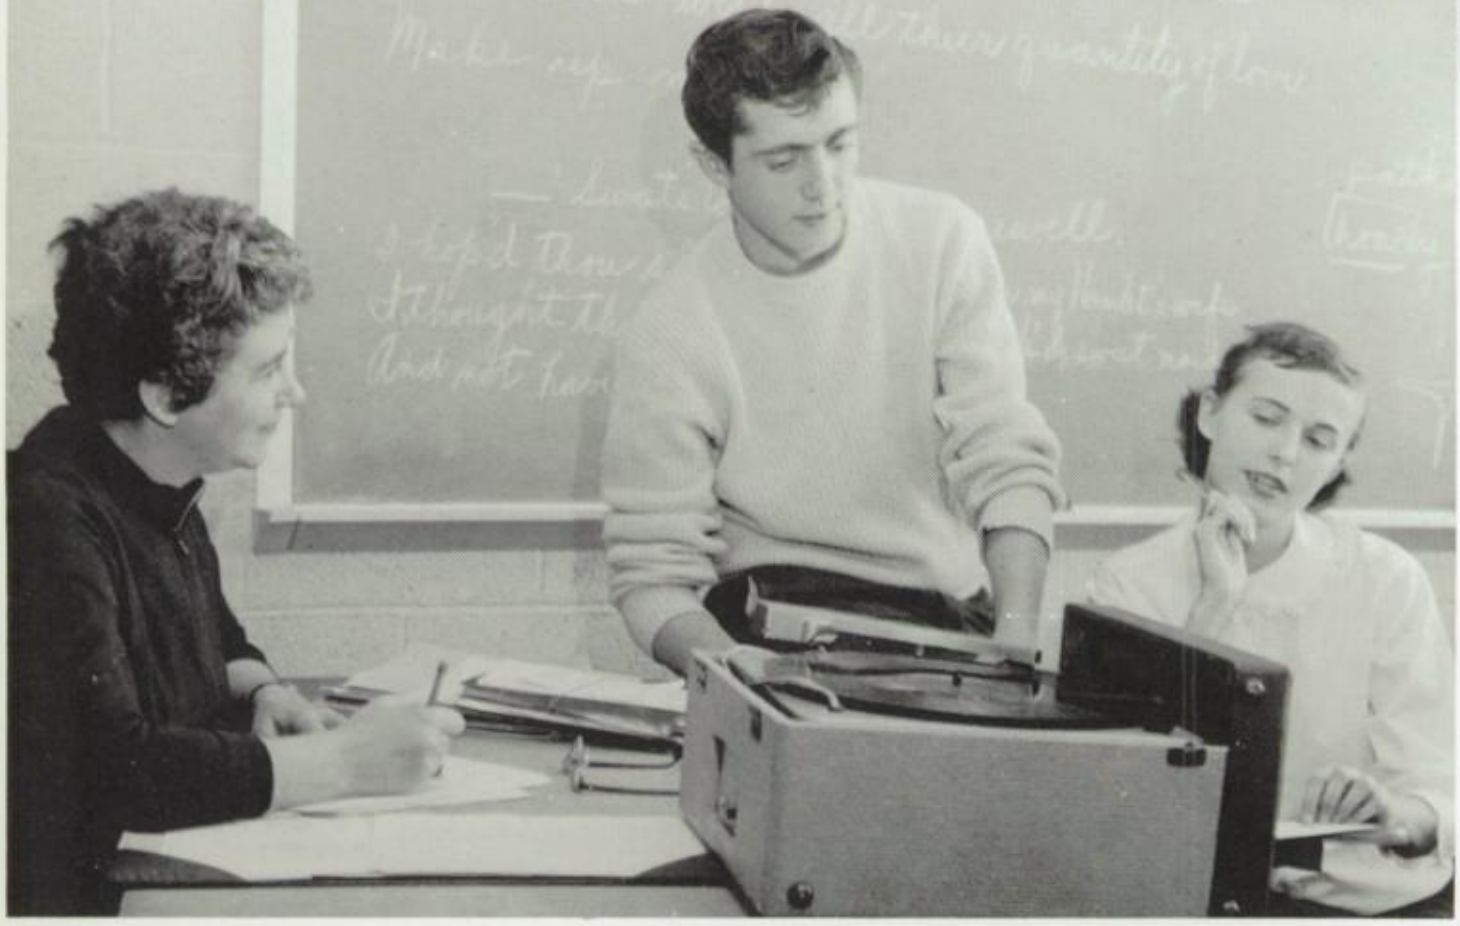
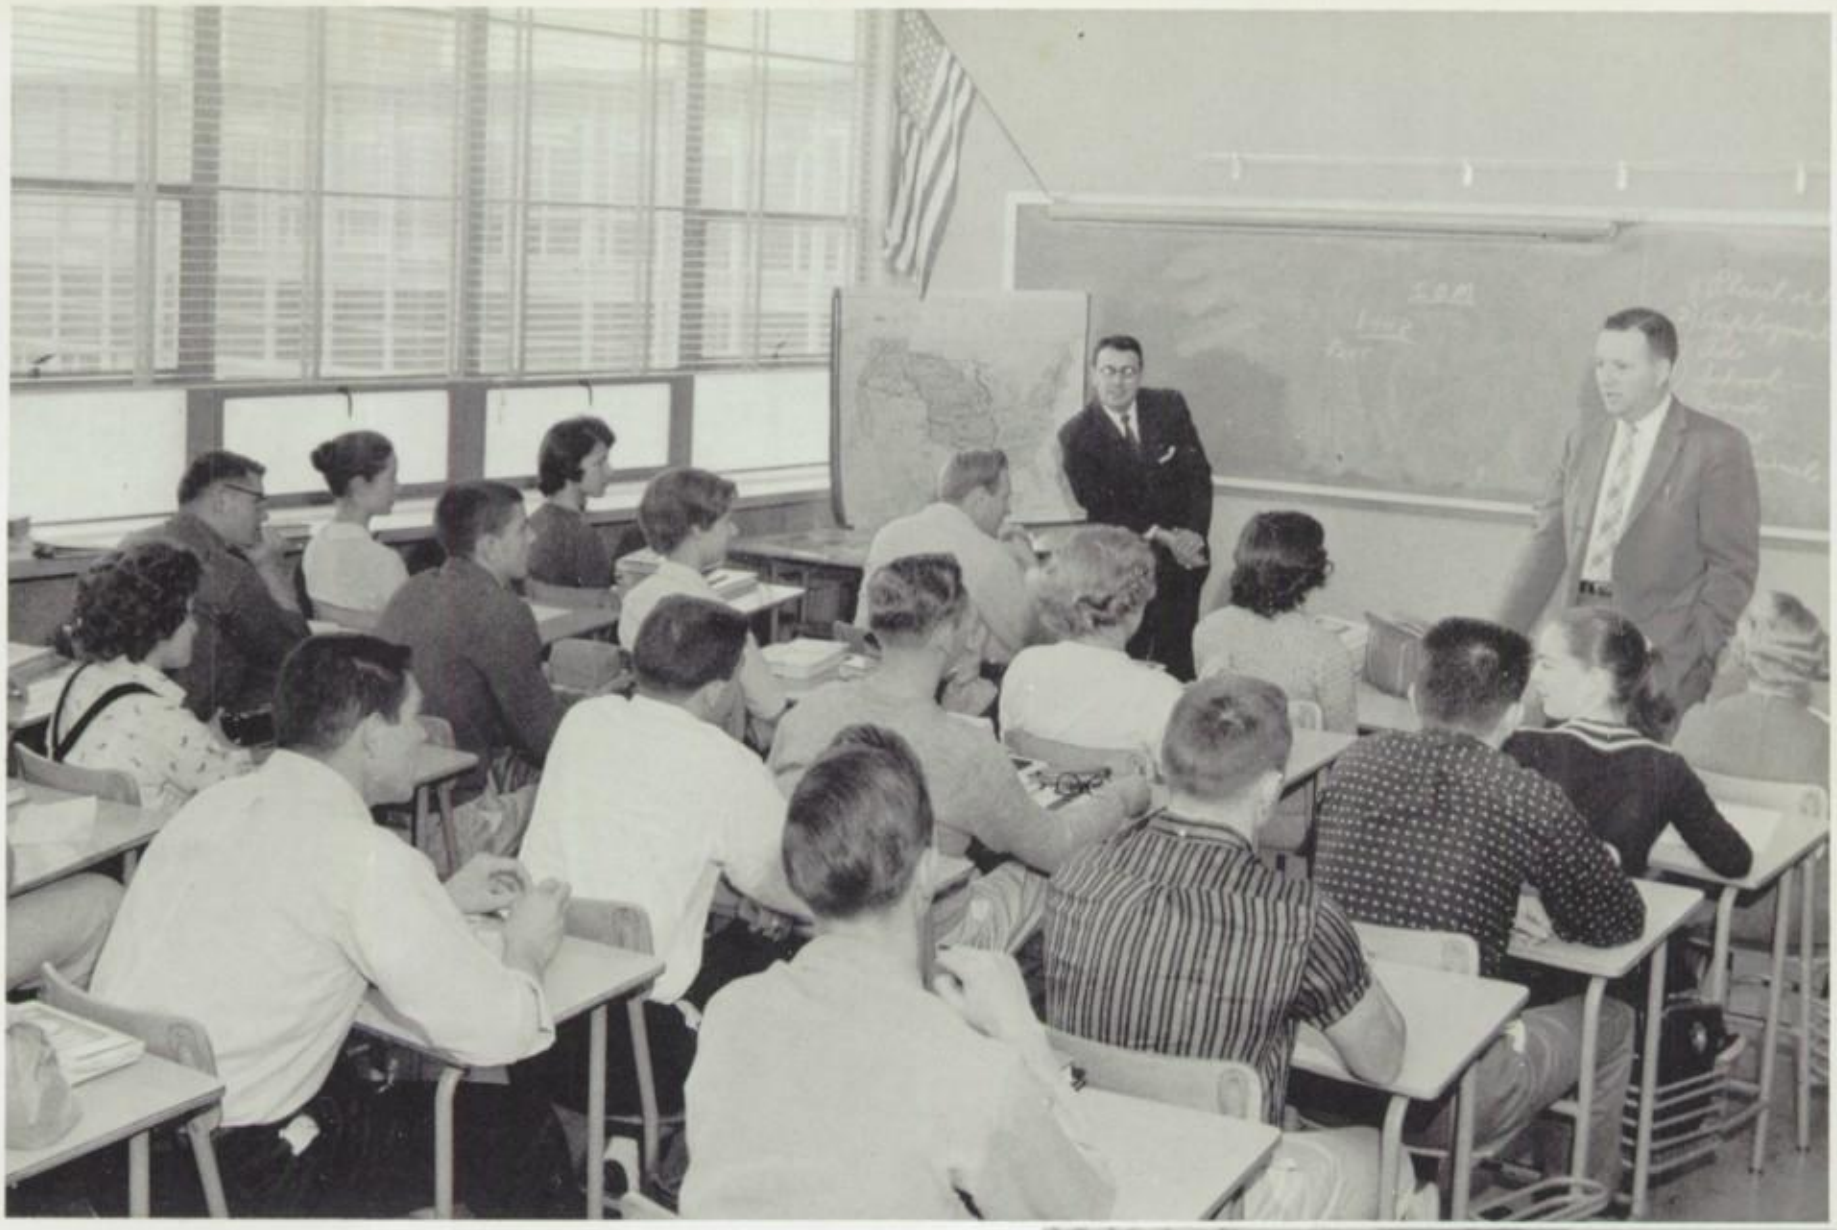
Mastering the Art of Self-Expression and Paving the Way Toward International Understanding

One of the most familiar sights in the high school is Miss West in the bookroom which houses English books satisfying the needs of 1800 students.

The Effective Writing class offers to advanced students all phases of writing techniques with the emphasis on critical thinking of any period. Nancy Wilcox reads her theme aloud for an attack of constructive and destructive criticism.



Members of Miss Petrella's Creative Writing group are composing themes based on emotional reactions to Beethoven's Pastoral for pure creativity. Barbara Smith and James Roberts are deeply absorbed in the recording.



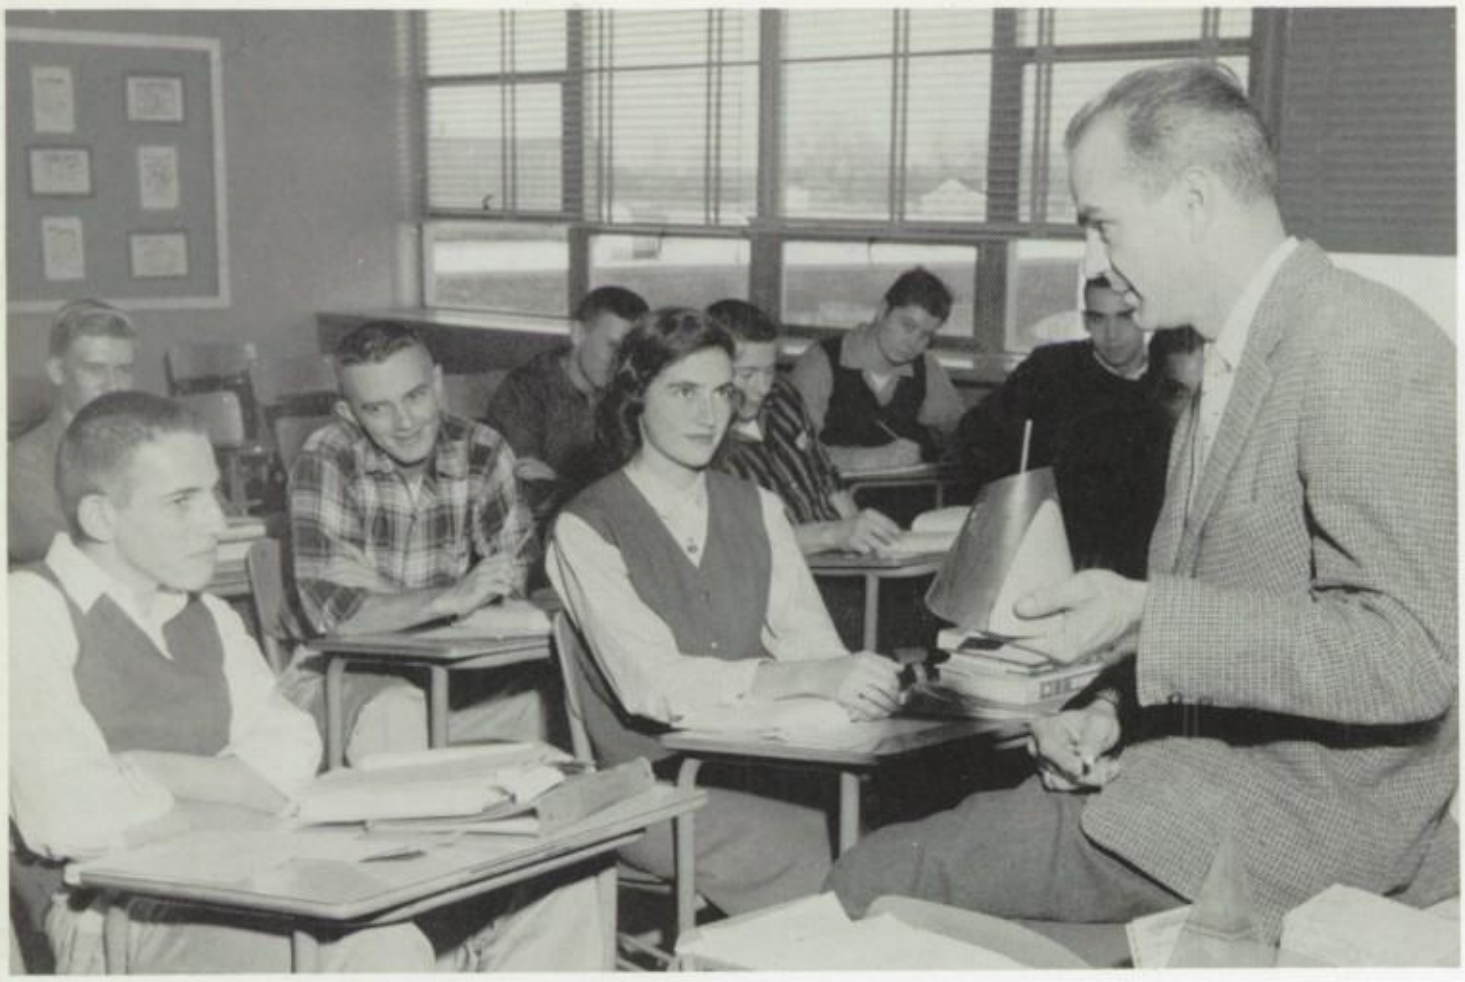
Mr. Lavery, School-Industry-Business Coordinator, is guest speaker in Mr. Crawley's P.A.D. class, discussing job opportunities in the state of Rhode Island.

The social studies and English programs are closely allied as both require a reat deal of selective reading, intensive research, and knowledge of man and his inking in any period of history or literature. Special courses are offered in each field satisfy the needs of the superior student, and additional courses are fitted into the hedule as the need arises. Both departments have sponsored such events as the odel Congress at U.R.I., Mayor for a Day in which students become city adminis- ators for a day, and the Voice of Democracy Contest in which students express eir thoughts on our democratic way of life.

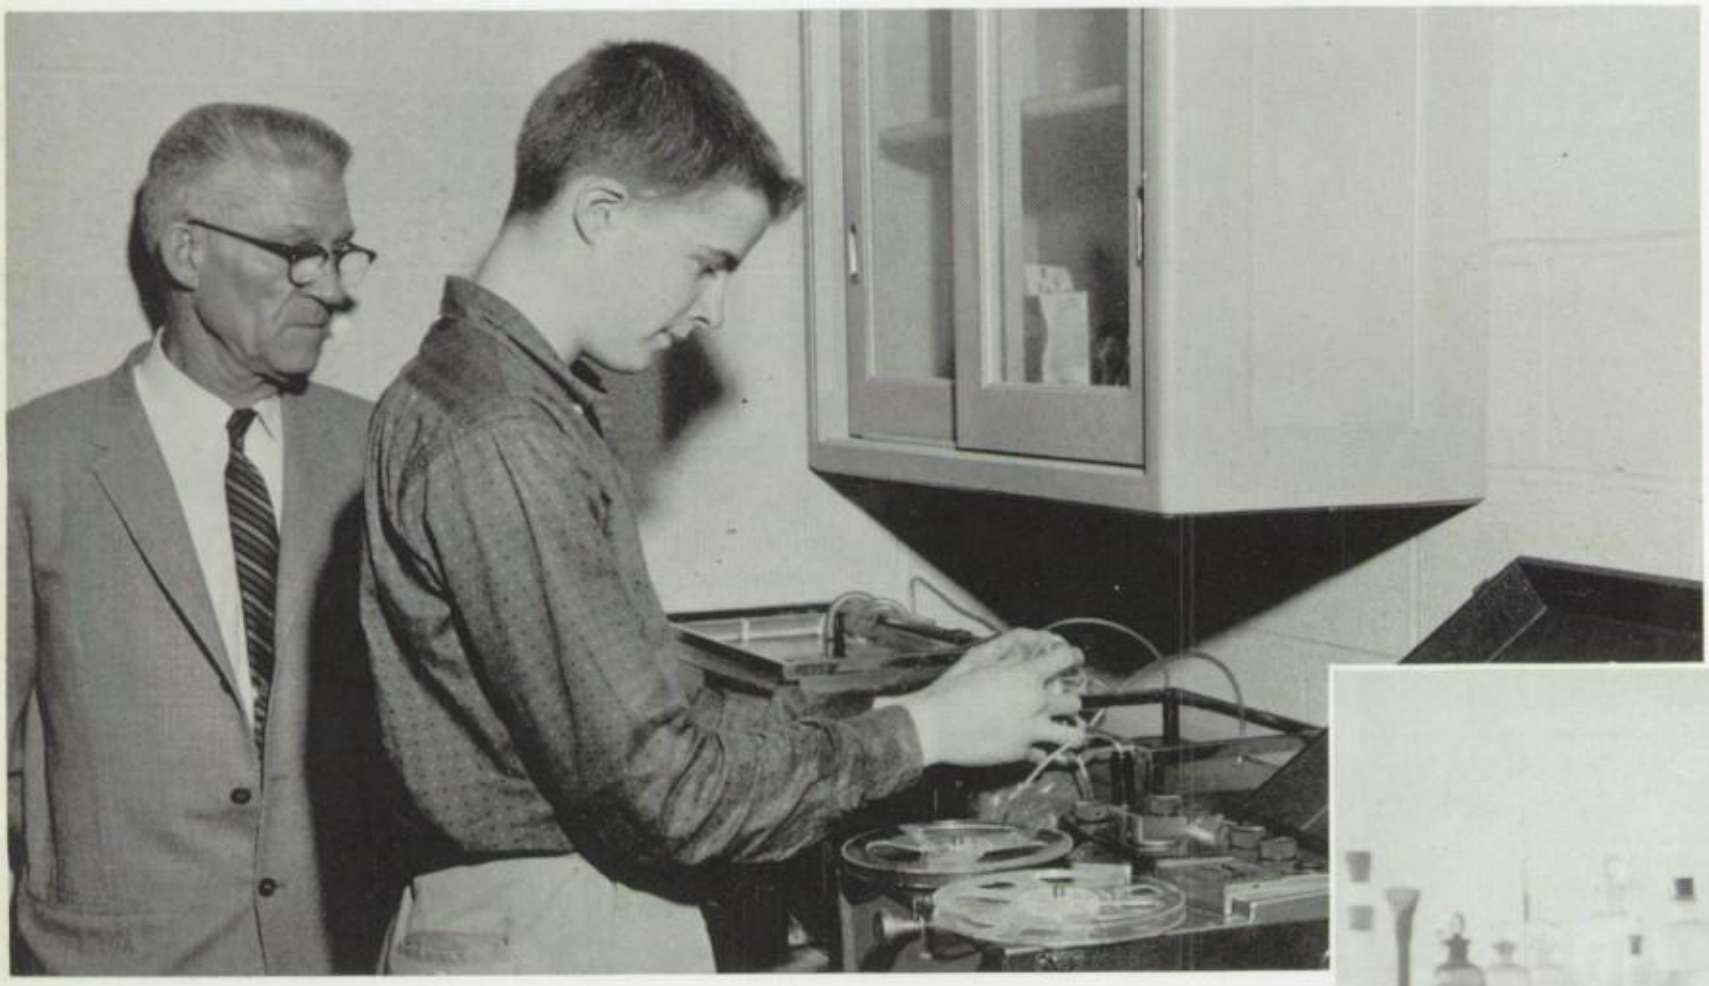
In World Geography, Mr. MacLean illustrates the difference between the Mercator's projection and the orthographic projection to George St. Pierre, future cartographer.

Mr. D'Amato's American Heritage group discuss the architecture, education, and literature of a period of history as an indication of a variety of trends of our culture.

Analyzing the



Thomas Soule, Patricia Skene, and the other students illustrate their strong initiative by taking advantage of the full year advanced math course which is held after regular school hours. They listen intently as Mr. DeRoin explains conic sections.



During a Research Science class, Mr. Rohloff watches as James Cook records the mysterious sounds made by fish which is to be his entry in the 1959 Science Fair in mid-March.

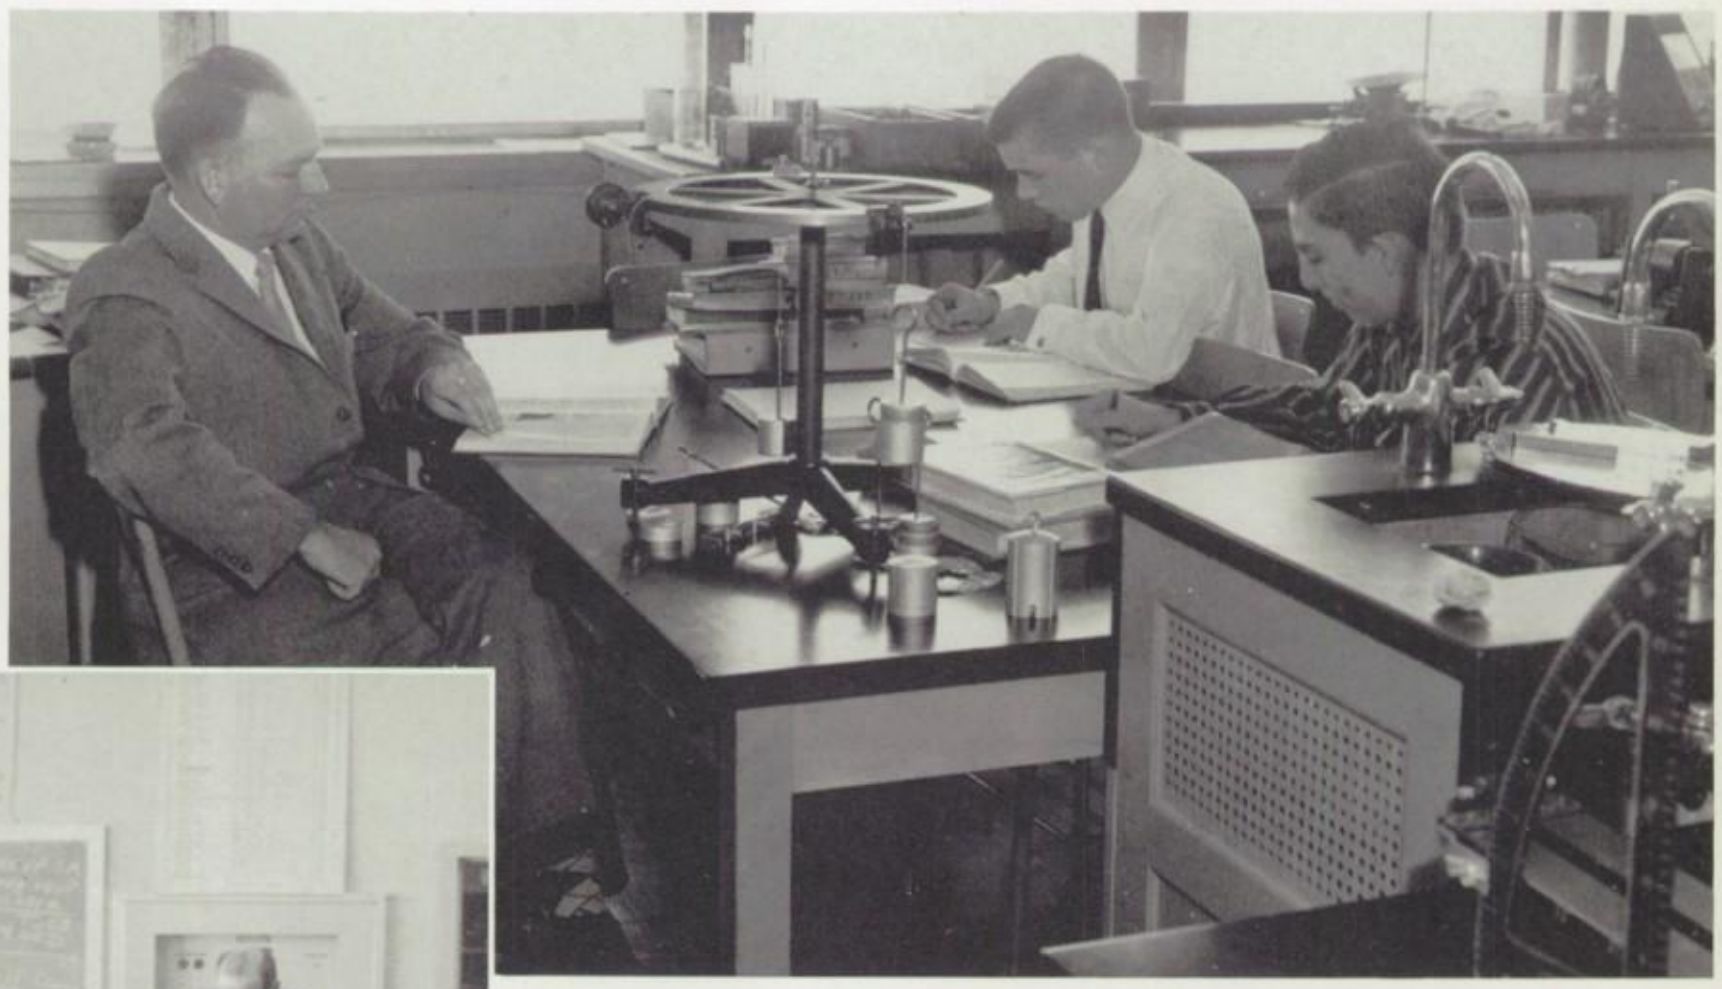
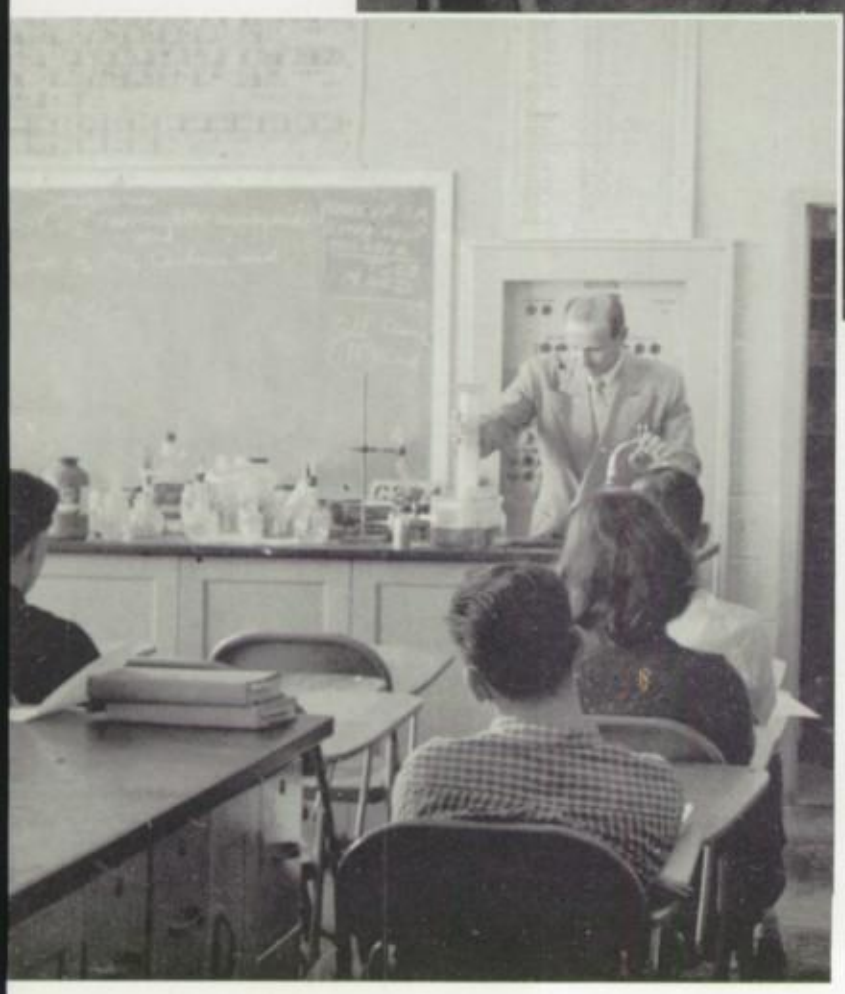
Worlds of Formulas and Figures

The science and math departments play a unique role in today's world of scientific advancement and have endeavored to meet the challenge in special courses designed for the advanced students in these fields by offering advanced math, which includes calculus, analytical geometry, and college algebra; research science, in which each student works to his own capacity on his own project; and advanced physics in which the superior student explores the field more fully.

As evidence of the success of this program, the two winners of the Science Fair were Patricia Skene and Henry Breit; two out of three state winners of the Westinghouse Talent Search were Patricia Skene and Barbara Smith.

Miss O'Brien brings a little of the holiday spirit into her classroom by decorating a Christmas tree with geometric figures made by her students.





In the midst of the impressive equipment of our physics laboratory Physics II students, Linwood Smith and John Krikorian, work out a problem assigned by Mr. McKeon.

Counselling Today's Youth for

Discussing plans for the coming Christmas Dance with Mr. Montaquila are two of the senior class officers, Bill Conners and Don Lynch. Guidance teachers also serve as social advisors to classes.

Jean Fiddes submits her program sheet to Mr. Bockstael for final check now that it has received her parents' approval.

Our secondary guidance program provides services to students which are not covered by any other department of the school. Its activities are designed to give aid to pupils making adjustments to various situations which they must meet.

Guidance is of great importance to a student entering high school for it helps him in learning and interpreting the facts of a new school environment — commonly called orientation. It also helps him to learn about educational and occupational opportunities and those relating to individual differences and human relations.

Especially important in the work of a senior guidance counselor is helping his students fill out college applications, interpret results of College Board Examinations for his students, both for college and the business world.

Guidance teachers are personally acquainted with interests, aptitudes, and abilities of each student in order to aid him in establishing in his mind the specific goals for which he should be preparing.

Tomorrow's Responsibilities

Miss Early, head of the guidance department, aids senior, Ray Kelley, in filling out a college application, one of the most important aspects of senior counselling.

Carol McDermott and Judith Jones, co-editors of the Gryphon, discuss the social calendar with Miss Willard, Social Coordinator, to make plans for yearbook picture schedule.

Miss Conlin reads instructions for a California Mental Maturity Test which will determine the I. Q. of the student.

Reading for Reference and Recreation

The library, with almost 9,000 volumes, has proved a most important asset to the school. The majority of the books are for reference work, but novels for book reports and for light, recreational reading are also readily available. The biography section is as large as any in Rhode Island. Because of the work of the librarian, Mrs. Price, and her assistants, Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Kerr, this modern library rates high in comparison with the other libraries in the state.

Mrs. Price and Mrs. Kerr are busy at work in the periodical room keeping the magazines in order for students who might need them for research.

Janet Fleming browses through one of the many current magazines on hand in the library.

The library is crowded, as usual, with students who find it a quiet place for homework and a handy place for research work.

Offering Facilities for Medical Attention

Students and teachers alike benefit from the excellent facilities of our clinic, where Mrs. Marion Lundin and Dr. Joseph T. Barrett are always available for a quick cure-all. A detailed health record of every student in the building is kept in the extensive medical files. Also, all athletes before entering a competitive sport must undergo a physical examination in our clinic, thus keeping athletics safer for all involved.

Using all of the latest equipment available, Mr. Lombardi teaches the many students taking advantage of the opportunity to elect Safe Driving the basic fundamentals of highway safety and the conduct becoming a safe and courteous driver. Behind the wheel of the dual-control, driver-training car, the students put into practical use the instruction they learned in the classroom.

Developing the Domestic Arts

The Home Economics department caters to the needs of future homemakers by offering a variety of courses. Those majoring in Home Economics may acquire a thorough background in every phase of this field by electing the progressive courses of Vocational Homemaking 10, 11, and 12. Those students with specific interests may choose from the wide selection of half-year courses. Home Planning and Interior Decorating allow the students to use their own creative ability in the step-by-step planning of their ideal homes and in furnishing them attractively. Clothing and foods and advanced courses in these areas for seniors provide an excellent background in the domestic arts. Two of the most valuable courses offered by the Home Economics department are Home Management and Managing the Family Income which deal with problems to be faced by the homemakers of tomorrow.

"6 . . 7 . . 8 . . 9 . . 10"—Have patience, Adrienne. They have to get tired sometime. Child Development trains adults to stay alert!

In Boys Foods, Richard Florio and Robert Eastwood are following the recipe for popovers under the watchful eye of Mrs. Mayor as "Kenny" catches an egg in midair.

The showcases in C wing were a delight during the Christmas season. A benign Santa Claus appears undisturbed as he is gently placed in his niche.

The children in the Child Development class are fascinated when they ar allowed to choose their own selections to play. This little girl beams in obviou approval.

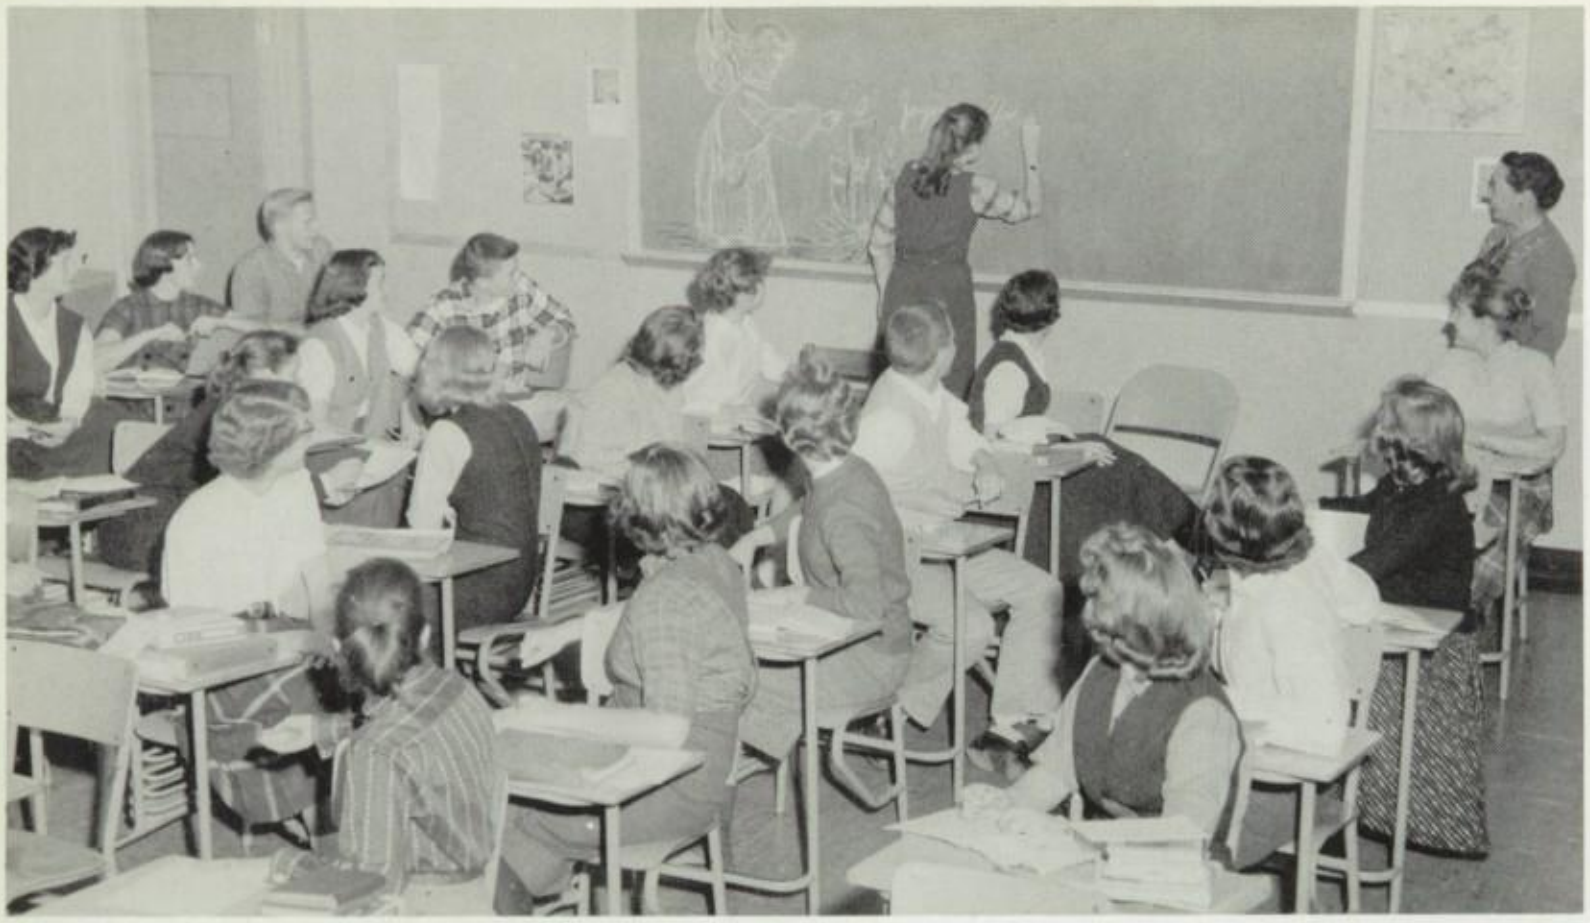
Surrounded by geraniums, poinsettia, and other blossoming plants, Mr. Price checks the progress of waxed begonias with Peter McAloon and David Bascomb.

Approaching Farming Scientifically

The diversified courses offered by the Agricultural department provide an excellent background for any student interested in farming. Offering practical experiences as well as theory work, Mr. Price prepares his students for the life of a farmer or for advanced training in their individual specialties. In the school lab they learn horticulture, poultry raising, the modern methods of farming, and how to repair and maintain the equipment necessary for farmers. On their acre of land the boys learn the principles as well as the practical applications of farming.

As one phase of his training, David Keefe, like all agricultural students, must learn how to test soil, as he illustrates here.

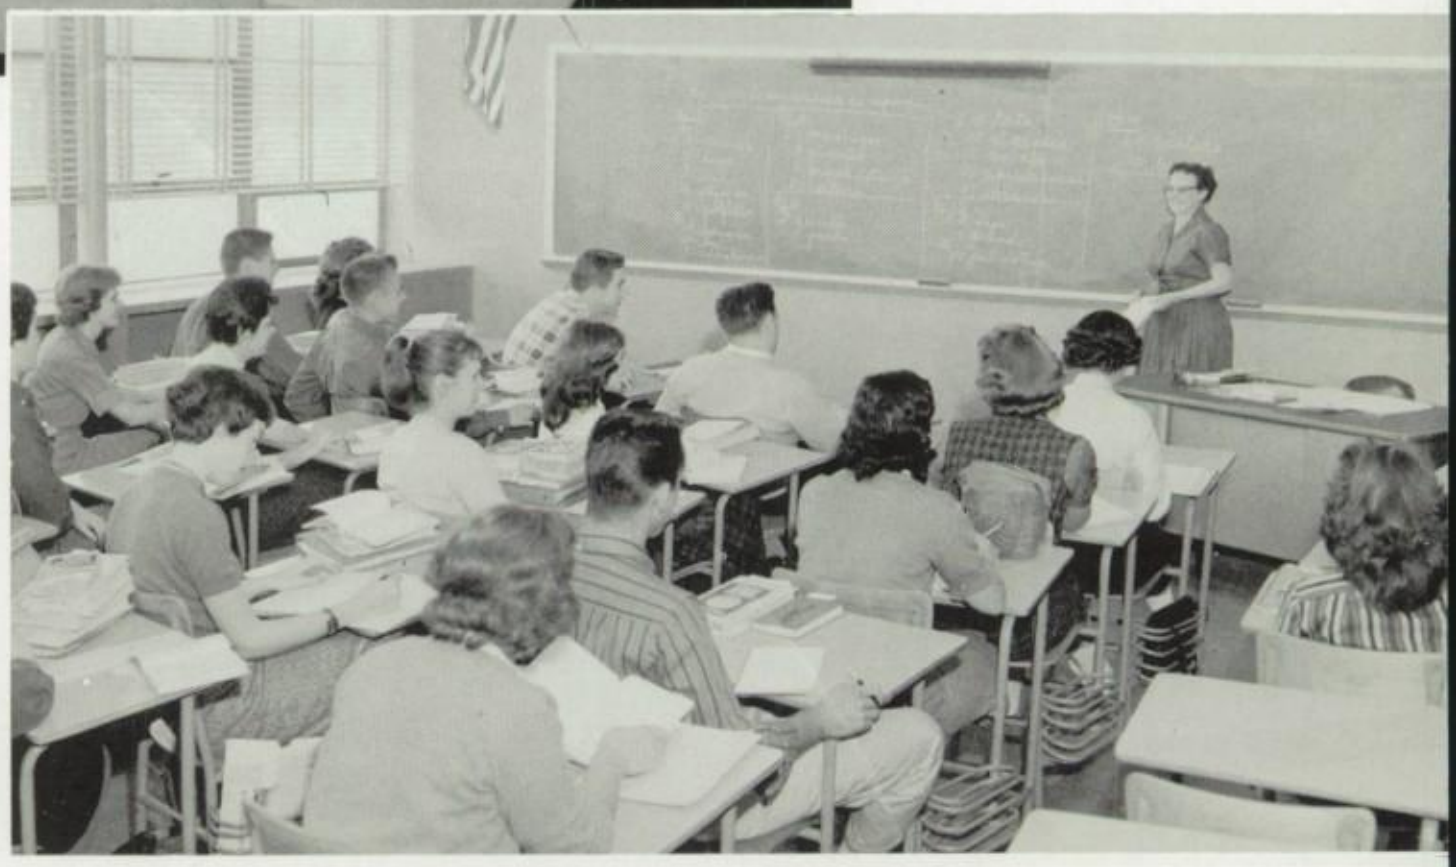
Understanding the Cultures of Past Civilizations



Mrs. Hanna's French III class will enjoy singing Christmas carols in French after one of the students writes the traditional Christmas greeting on the blackboard.

Italian III student, Linda DiCarlo, finishes her translation and looks to Miss Borra for approval.

When a student chooses a foreign language, he discovers its teachings have a two-fold purpose. To gain proficiency in reading, writing, speaking, and comprehending a language, its primary motive, can only be obtained by sufficient years of training which Warwick offers with three-year courses in French, Spanish, Italian, German, and Latin. From this, the student acquires the needed understanding of the people whose customs, traditions, and cultural backgrounds differ in all aspects from his own. This opportunity which the department presents basically broadens one's intellectual powers and therefore should not be neglected by any student.



In Mrs. Reid's Spanish III class, students become better acquainted with the language and culture of our Spanish neighbors.

Preparing for Commercial Enterprise

The Business Curriculum offers students not only training in business skills, but also preparation as wise consumers. A wide variety of courses and modern equipment enable the individual to fulfill his own particular needs. All students have the opportunity to use the business facilities, since one-half year of typing is a required minimum. For those who are to earn a living in the clerical field, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business machines, and office practice are provided. The program also supplies a background for those who wish to further their business education.

Barbara Thornton is intent on taking shorthand which she will later transcribe as part of Shorthand and Transcription.

The rhythmic clicking of the electric typewriters fill the room with busy sounds as Mr. Matteson supervises his Typing II class in one of the best-equipped typing rooms in the state.

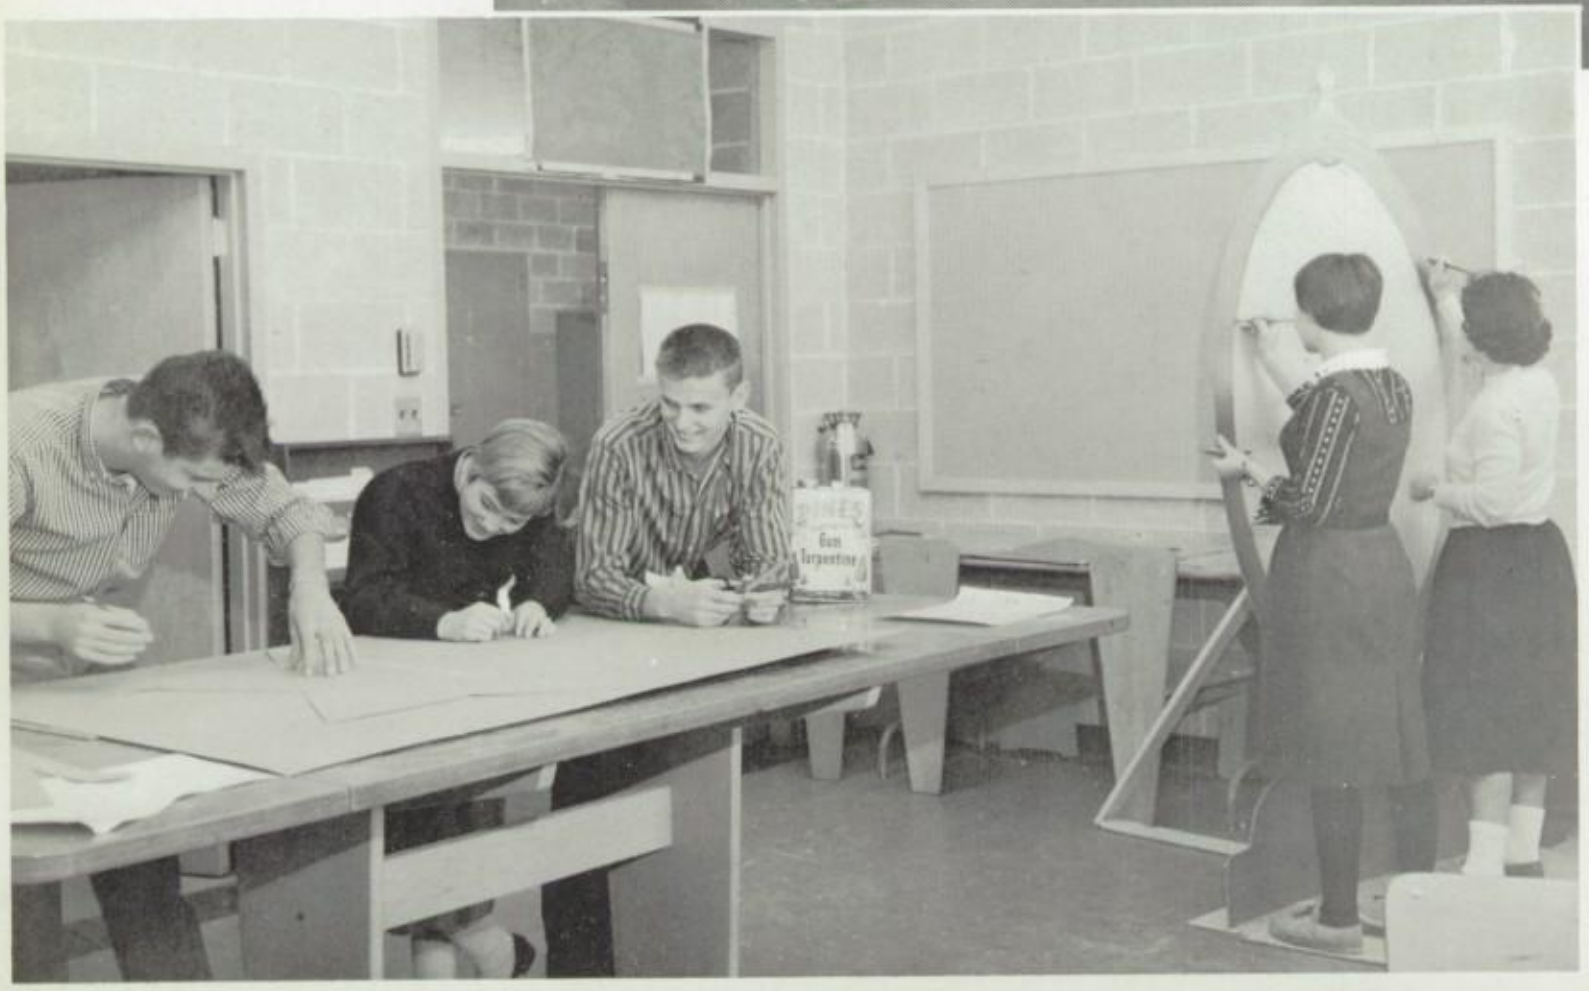
A student in Miss Riley's Business Machines class will find a remarkable variety of machines, ediphones, comptometers, duplicating machines, and adding machines necessary in the modern business field.

Creating Moods

With creativity and originality as the primary object, Art students and those electing Crafts work daily with their hands to build and construct. Mr. Rittman's students have leaned strongly toward design, using a new type of processes in casting, while Mr. Doley's Craft classes specialize in useful decorative projects through the employment of a variety of materials and methods such as copper, leather, and clay, stenciling, silk screening, and copper enameling.

Mr. Doley checks the progress of a project well on the way to success, as he and Robert Leblanc study a proof from a linoleum block print.

The annual Music Revue has always been known for its colorful scenery thanks to the cooperation of the Art Department and this year was no exception. Here the girls work on the background for the romantic Summer Formal setting.



"Art is variety; variety is art," claims Mr. Rittman who feels that his students learn to think for themselves as they work. Each of these young artists is working on the project he has selected from a choice of papier-maché, mass making, model making, and mobiles.

Through Sound and Form

The music department functions with the purpose of establishing in the student a desire to enjoy good music by offering subjects which will make him understand the principles and performance of musical literature. In addition, Dr. Wiggin emphasizes, as any band member is fully aware, the development of a thorough understanding of good citizenship requirements — loyalty, integrity, promptness, and a sense of responsibility. In the choral department, Miss Willard and Mrs. Petrarca concentrate on bringing the student into contact with all the communicative arts.

Members of the Theory class listen closely to the words of Dr. Wiggin as he explains one of the basic principles of theory.
Before long they will be asked to write and harmonize simple melodies or to do some work entirely creative.

Mrs. Petrarca hopes to arouse the curiosity of these students of Music Appreciation so that their enjoyment of rich musical experiences will be increased through a knowledge of composers, performers and instruments, and a sensitivity to the beauty in music.

Caught in one of many rehearsals for the Revue, these chorus members display one method of self-expression through music, while gaining confidence, self-assurance, and recognition.

Building Skills for Industrial Vocations

The Industrial Arts curriculum is designed to prepare boys for apprentices in many fields. They may elect a major in Metal Shop in which they do forging, sheet metal work, soldering, and heat treating. Training in inboard and outboard motors and also electricity is offered by Power Shop. Boys in the Wood Shop develop skills in cabinet making and other phases of woodworking. Drafting provides an excellent background for future engineers. As its name implies, Composite Shop is a combination of all the types of Industrial Arts. Here the students acquire the basic fundamentals in wood, power, electricity, and metals, enabling them to advance in their chosen fields.

A cedar coffee table will result from the efforts of these industrious students who are members of the woodworking class.

Mr. Kerr supervises as a student works on one of the many projects undertaken in Power Shop, that of dissembling an automobile.

Mr. Stedman looks on as Roger Luther completes his mechanical drawing project.

Metal Shop instructor, Mr. Tourigny, demonstrates the operation of a lathe to Michael Owen and Donald Cincerny.

Working Together for Healthy Bodies and Sound Minds

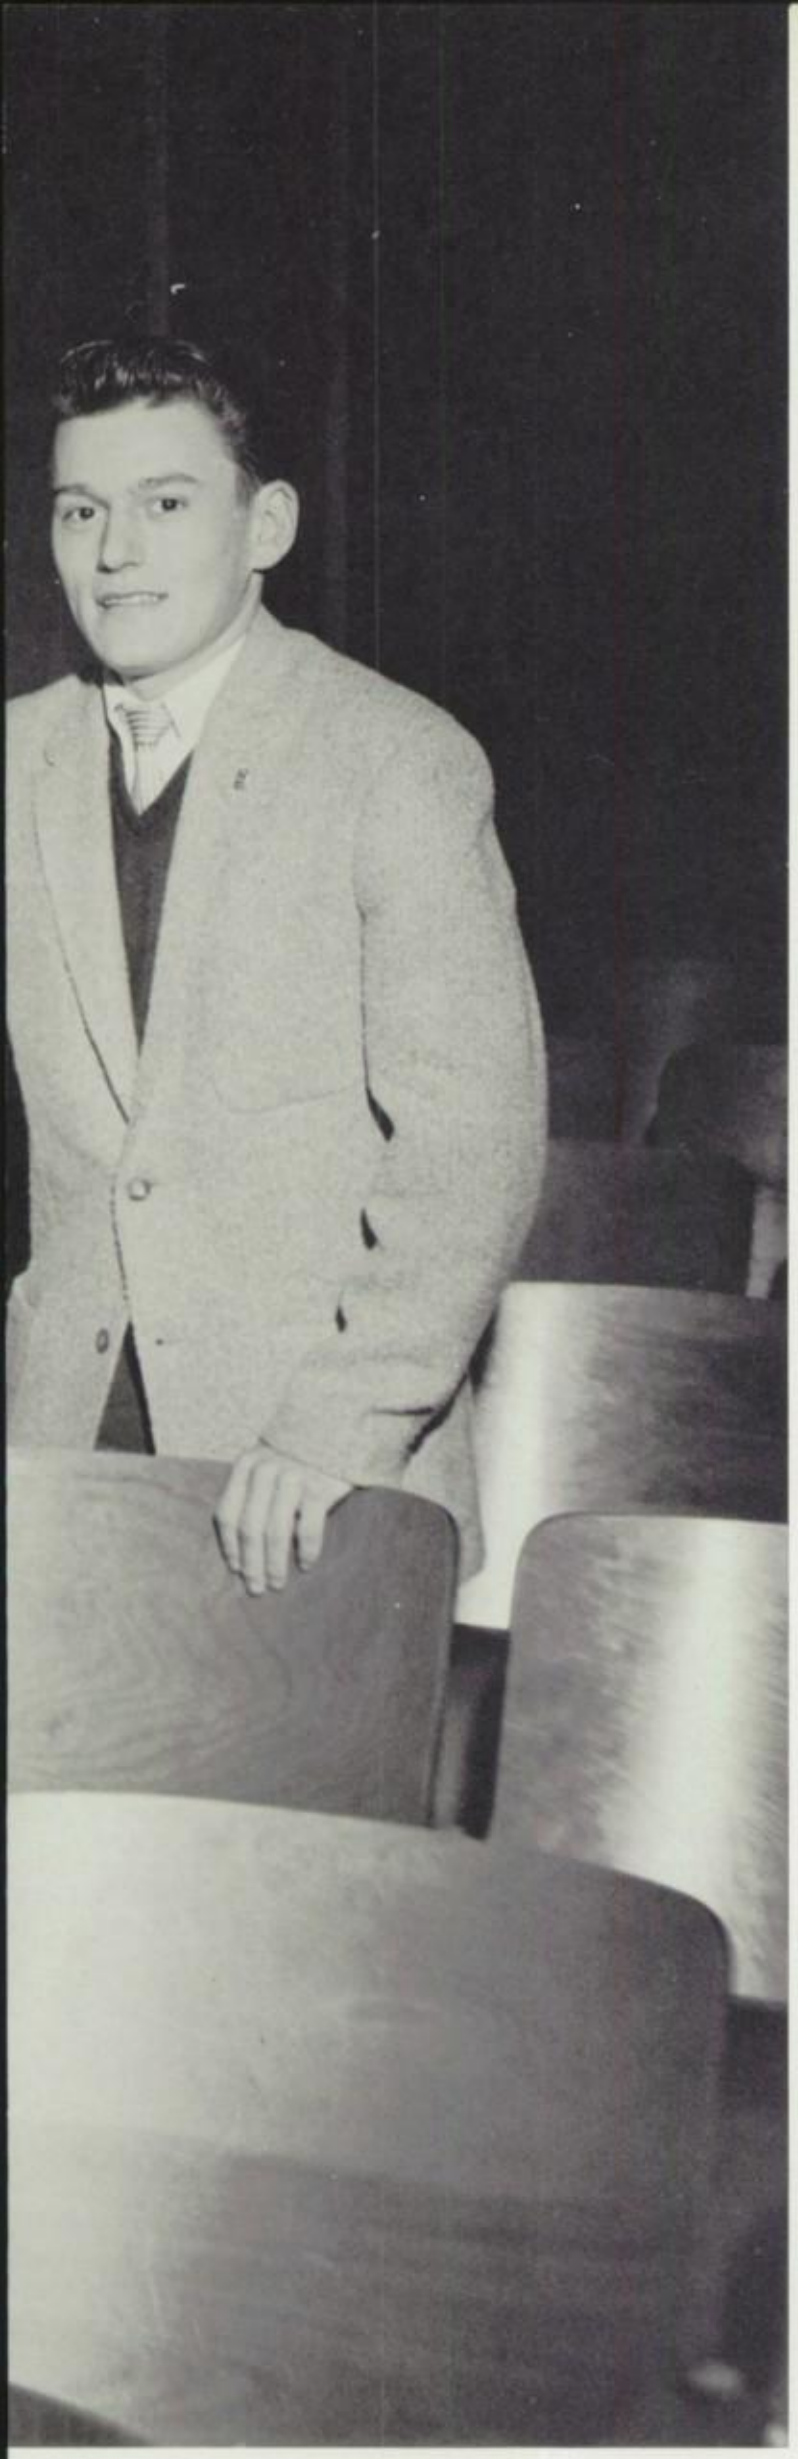
The purpose of physical education involves two principles — training in basic skills and developing a sense of fair sportsmanship. It builds and helps maintain physical fitness and mental well-being in a well-rounded program, for boys learn responsibilities of teamwork in touch football, basketball, and baseball; develop individual ability in golf, tennis and badminton; strengthen muscular coordination in contact sports. For girls, the goal of this department is to create neat physical appearance through correct posture which can be achieved by exercise. They are also taught basic fundamentals of sports which are applied in actual play.

Before the boys undergo a period of work on ropes, trampoline, and parallel bars, they must limber up with vigorous exercises.

Donald Scott strives for height on the trampoline as the boys stand guard as protection against the sides.

Developing arm and shoulder muscles, a junior strives for height as the members look on.

Barbara McLaughlin heads over the horse as Miss Sirr prepares for an easy landing.



Class of 1961

After recovering from the initial shock created by the vastness of the high school, the big, big Class of 1961 showed their enthusiasm and spirit at the outset by attending a "Get-Acquainted Dance" sponsored by the Student Council as a welcoming committee for incoming, confused sophomores.

The pressure of first high school midyear examinations relieved, they conducted their long-awaited elections, which resulted in four first-rate candidates who did a creditable job in planning their first prom, the Soph Hop, held in June.

A fine start was made scholastically, as well as socially, however, with ninety-seven of their members making honors and eight attaining high honors the first term.

Their youthful exuberance and wise choice of officers promises much, and we are sure they will fulfill their "great expectations" in the coming years.

Class of 1960

After a booming sophomore year, the Class of 1960 once again established their qualities of leadership and integrity. The Junior elections, conducted in early December, were distinguished by flamboyant campaigns and earnest speeches. The choices have proved worthy of their classmates' support, as evidenced by a highly successful Valentine's Dance. Scholastic achievement must also be mentioned here, for although many Juniors are taking advanced courses, a total of seventy-six made honors, four of whom achieved high honors in the first term.

A dramatic triumph for the juniors at the time of the annual One-Act Play Competition was the cause of much discussion, especially among the dethroned seniors.

Completing the school year on a high note was the Junior Prom at Rhodes-on-the-Pawtuxet. The dazzle of this formal affair, with its magical mood, mellow music, and mystical moments, wove a web of enchantment never to be forgotten. OFFICERS: Pamela Paine, Secretary; Raymond E. Stone, Jr., Treasurer; Robert Mondillo, Acting President; Michael Kelly, President.

Gryphon Captures Memories

The mounting task of keeping GRYPHON sales records of 1300 subscribers straight is efficiently handled by Mrs. Wilson whose sales staff of 53 students collect weekly in homerooms.

The GRYPHON staff succeeded in proving that what "couldn't be done" could be done, for after a week's diligent advertising campaign in which the entire student body participated, the sizeable amount of $2000 was raised to supplement a $7000 budget. This money, in addition to an all time high for student sales, raised the budget to an impressive amount, enabling the staff to experiment with revolutionary ideas.

Conferences, such as the National Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University and the meetings at University of Rhode Island contributed many new ideas, pointed out our strengths and weaknesses, and instilled in us a resolution to make our faculty, student body, and fellow staff members proud of the 1959 GRYPHON.

Kenneth Fish, Nancy Berger, and Carol Herchen, junior staff members, display some of the posters which helped make the advertising campaign such a great success.

Some of the layout and editorial staff pause to pose for "Kenny." Seated: J. Souther, P. Page, A. Hultenius, A. Mackie, C. Lundgren, P. Quinn.
Standing: M. Paulhamous, S. Smith, C. Dwyer, E. MacNaught.

Gryphon Typists: Preparing for a busy schedule are these typists: C. Mattson, J. Sheehan, P. Farley, and E. Rivers. (Not pictured, K. Osthagen.)

Gryphon Advisors: As the deadline nears, Carol McDermott, co-editor; Mr. Perrone, asst. advisor; Miss Hurl, advisor; and Judith Jones, co-editor, make preparations for the final proofreading.

The Hurricane Herald News Staff, consisting of Judith Di Nobile, Carolyn McEntee, Donald Kearney, and Kevin Dolan are making preparations for the main articles of the next issue.

Extra! Extra! The circulation staff, Virginia Latham, Cynthia Mattson, and Joyce Kindlund, assisted by sportswriter, Lawrence Very, proclaim the issuance of the latest edition.

The members of the Editorial Board — Judith Wheeler, Betsey Eggleston, and Nancy Wilcox — playfully reenact the antics of the Hurricane Carnival.

Editors Face Another Deadline

Among the many fine points of the Hurricane Herald are several new features which were added this year: "Kollege Knowledge," "Career Cues," "Sports 'n Skorts," "Platter Chatter," and "Movie Matter." Staff representatives attended the Columbia Press Convention in New York, the Press Conference at the University of Rhode Island, and the editor was a guest at the tenth-anniversary banquet of WJAR-TV. The year was climaxed by the special Senior Issue which contained superlative results, the class will, and the events of Senior Week.

Lon Weston, photographer, captures Barbara Morgera typing her column "Tradewinds."

Working undisturbed in the art room, William Gibson, Eloise Miller, and Geraldine Gorman, the Art and Lay-out Staff, complete the "paste-up" of the forthcoming issue.

Waiting for an inspiration are Kenneth Fish, Nancy Berger, Patricia Hinchcliffe, and Diane Dauer, members of the Feature Staff.

Student Leaders Form Nucleus of Academic and Social Life

"To set forth the highest possible standards for ourselves and for future Councils, to ensure the life of democratic principles among students of this school, and to instill within these students the idea of a democratic government on a senior high school level by providing a representative forum for student expression, with the specific goal of promoting the greatest possible scholastic and extra-curricular standards . . ." are the objectives of the Student Council as set forth in its constitution.

The council has instituted many "firsts" for our school. Chosen by a faculty board in April, 1958, the junior and senior members began to function the day school opened by conducting an Orientation Day Program for the incoming sophomores. In addition to performing its regular duties, taking action on matters brought up by students and faculty members, conducting class elections, selling candy after school, ushering at various school productions, and keeping the bulletin board up to date, the Student Council sponsored a Get-Acquainted Dance for sophomores, became the corridor marshals, and held the first school-wide election of Student Council officers.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee, J. Webster, J. Scott, and P. Rezendes sell candy in the gym corridor of the school.

The Rules and By Laws Committee discuss the constitution of the group under the chairmanship of Lawrence Bowser.

Sophomore Council members are greeted by upperclassmen in a reenactment of the Orientation Day.

Student Council officers and advisors include: Miss Larson, Sophomore Advisor; Mr. Saute, Upperclassmen Advisor; Judith Jones, President; Betsy McMillan, Secretary; Frances Syner, Vice-President; Carol Herchen, Treasurer.

How Do You Plead?

Since its organization in the spring of last year, the traffic court has attempted to educate the students of Warwick in highway safety. Following regular court procedure, the ten student members consist of a chief justice, a prosecuting attorney, a clerk, and judges. A defendant, any student who breaks the rules of the road, must appear before the court with witnesses to defend himself against the charge. There are two adult advisors, Mr. Nordyke of the faculty and Officer Anthony Kleavas of the Warwick Police Department.

After her car was thoroughly checked, Susan McAllister was given a parking sticker by Officer Kleavas.

Judges J. Galli, T. Wilson, W. Gibson, A. Volkman, and J. Lane discuss the evidence before passing sentences.

Prosecuting attorney, Eldon Wedlock, points out to Patricia Nihill the error of her offense as Elsie Arsenault checks the summons. Mr. Nordyke and Officer Kleavas supervise as judges W. Gibson, J. Galli, A. Volkman, J. Lane, and T. Wilson weigh the evidence.

Mrs. Kerr supervises as the following girls process and repair books: Roberta Schultz and Sheila Barker, seated; Nancy Smith and Carol Passarelli, standing.

Mrs. Eaton shows the girls the proper method of checking out books; R. Brown, B. Henley, J. Leahy, J. Cogswell, C. Reynolds, S. Wiatric, P. De Feo, N. Sawyer, and C. Kirk.

All Booked Up!

The Library Club, consisting of twenty-seven members, is a service organization whose many and varied activities include processing new books, shelving and mending worn books, and serving as an invaluable source of aid in keeping our extensive library in efficient running order. Under the guidance of Mrs. Price, the group is learning skills which will aid them in their future education as well as helping improve and maintain a well-equipped library.

Brenda Acuff, Carol Ferretti, and Helene De Cesare are helping to make the faculty section of our library more attractive.

Service

Our Motto

One of the most prominent and certainly most active organizations of the school is the Hi-Y now divided into two groups, the junior-senior and sophomore clubs, because of the expanding school enrollment. Their many activities include a basketball team, splash parties, candy sales, and the sale of "Varsity Rats" and school emblems. Their greatest contributions to the school and community are service at Lakeside Home and their donations to the YMCA, scholarship fund, Hi-Y Canteen, and the advertising campaign of the Gryphon.

Membership: 1st Row—V. Gibeault, W. Lang, D. Mischke, T. Soule, A. Rydberg, L. Smith, W. Gibson, R. Hopcraft.
2nd Row—R. Sauer, D. Bell, A. Volkman, R. McKenna, Mr. Hoffman, A. Brazil, D. Hartman, C. Miga.
3rd Row—E. Wedlock, K. Johnson, T. MacCarthey, J. Edwards, D. Christie, M. Jerald, R. Anderson, D. Eichenfeldt.

The greatest achievement of the Hi-Y is the happiness of youngsters at Lakeside Home, seen here with Duncan Bell, Joseph Dutra, Robert Delaney, R. Conner, Alan Volkman, Russell McKenna.

Officers of the Hi-Y include Leonard Johnson, Sec.; Mr. Hoffman, Advisor; Alan Volkman, Vice-Pres.; Anthony Brazil, Treas.; Russell McKenna, Pres.; Duncan Bell, Chaplain.

Hi-Y Basketball squad: B. Bockstael, A. Brazil, D. Hartman, C. Miga, R. Hopcraft.

Devotion to Duty

One of the most popular and active clubs at Warwick is the Teens in White, a group of interested future nurses, whose activities are supervised by Mrs. Price and Mrs. Lundin. The club members have offered their services in the school clinic and have greatly aided civic groups in the Polio campaign and other causes. Recently, the club has joined a state council of Teens in White in which the various officers throughout the state assemble to discuss their club's various accomplishments. A worthwhile project of the year was the group's adoption of a family at Christmas who was supplied with food, clothing, and toys for the children.

The Executive Committee of Teens in White, with Barbara Jacques, Treasurer; Carol Enos, Secretary; Judith Moulton, President; and Susan Smith, Program Chairman, in one of their frequent meetings with Mrs. Price and Mrs. Lundin.

M. Amaru, A. Entwistle, M. Silvia, S. Hardy, E. Viau, N. Wetherell, J. Wilson, and D. Niebuhr discuss the use of the health records with Mrs. Lundin.

SENIOR CLASS

Presents

'SLIGHTLY DELINQUENT'

MAR. 7, 59 8:00 P.M.

GEN. ADM. 75¢ RES. $1.00

W.V.M. HIGH

In post-show frolicking before a capacity audience, Annette Paquin and Michael Marcello present Mr. DeRoin and Miss Willard with tokens of appreciation for their sacrifice of time and energy to make the show possible.

Beware all mice (or men) as Bette-Ann Tubman, mimicking a cat, prances with grace and poise to "Serenade to a Lemonade."

The thought of that "Sentimental Journey" must be enchanting by the expression on the faces of the Grace Notes, S. Freelove, S. Moretti, J. Berthiaume, and A. Ciolfi.

Queen Joan Souther beams on her subjects who have just witnessed her coronation with breath-taking awe and admiration. Attending her are Carol Hunt, Sally Saabye, Jean Fiddes, Joanne Wilson, Nancy Swanson, and Betsey McMillan, climaxing "Showtime 58."

"Another Opening, Another Show . . ."

Delicate harmony and a perfect blend of voices are offered by the Terri-Tones as they sing (and play). Members of the group are: Gail Wrenoski, Joan Silvia, Jeri Silvia, and Darlene Weekly.

Just to show everyone that nothing is impossible for these 1958 Champions, Warwick's illustrious football players trade in their helmets, cleats, and shin-guards, for leotards, bermuda skorts, and pigtails; as they join the cheerleaders in a take-off on the Broadway hit, "There is Nothing Like a Dame."

A very smooth combination of sounds issues forth from this talented group. 1st row: A. Paquin, W. Lang, P. Macaulay, V. Gibeault, T. Jones.
2nd row: Mr. DeRoin, R. McKenna, R. Pride, W. Porter, J. Dunn, J. Goodwin.

1 and 2 and . . .

Although he sometimes accuses them of sounding like a Romper-Room rhythm band, Mr. DeRoin, as well as all Warwickites, is proud of his group of music makers. "Showtime '59" could not have been the success it was without the excellent background and accompaniment provided by this harmonious group of musicians. Fast or slow, waltz or cha-cha, sharps or flats — they'll play it — and play it well.

The sax of Pete Macaulay, the cornet of Bill Porter, the trombone of Russ McKenna, and the piano styling of Annette Paquin provide for mellow music.

The backbone for the musical group is the leadership of Mr. DeRoin and accompaniment of Annette Paquin.

"I Hear Music"

The Senior Chorus under the direction of Miss Willard not only serves as a workshop for the preparation of particular events throughout the school year, such as the Musical Revue, PTA meetings, and assemblies, but also helps to develop poise, character, and a feeling of achievement for each individual. Some members of the chorus were chosen to attend the International Festival at Montreal and the New England Festival at Barre, Vermont. The chorus also participated in the choral workshop and concert conducted by Dr. John D. Raymond, Director of Music at Lafayette College in Pennsylvania and a member of the Fred Waring staff.

Posing after the success of the annual One-Act Competition Plays are the faculty advisors — Mr. Robert Shapiro, Mr. Barry Smith, Miss Louise Wilbur, Mr. Roger Vermeersch, Mr. William McDevitt, and Mr. William Marinelli, co-ordinator of the plays.

Joyce Kindlund, the "accused" man's wife, defies the townfolk, Meredith Haas, Michael Marcello, Paula Bennett, Jane Genever, and John Ahlijian in the senior play, "Spreading the News."

Elaine Swider, as the maid, is serving tea to the "nephew-niece," Dolores Manulikow, who has just arrived. The complications arising from the expected nephew who turns out to be a niece in the sophomore play, "A Nephew in the House," are aided by the three maiden aunts, Deborah Pearson, Marilyn Powell, and Anne Porter.

"Out, out, brief candle," quotes Aunt Fay, Pamela Paine, as she follows the Admiral, Alan Volkman, on stage in the winning junior play, "Not Tonight."

A bewildered Rose, Lorel Oxley, tries to explain to a confused Chester, played by Eldon Wedlock, Jr., the peculiar habits of her sleepwalking family, as her mother, Maureen Magner, looks on.

Juniors Triumph In One-Act Plays

On November 26, the annual One-Act Competition Plays were presented under the direction of Mr. William Marinelli, co-ordinator of the plays. For the first time in the history of this yearly event, the junior entry took first prize. This play, "Not Tonight," was directed by Mr. Robert Shapiro and Mr. Roger Vermeersch. A comedy, it involved a sleepwalking family, their daughter's fiancee, and the consequences which follow when he discovered the family secret.

The senior play, "Spreading the News," under the direction of Mr. William McDevitt and Mr. Barry Smith, is a rural Irish comedy by Lady Augusta Gregory. A rumor circulates at a county fair that a man has been murdered by his best friend. The gossip travels and soon both of them appear at the fair and complications set in.

"A Nephew in the House," directed by Miss Louise Wilbur, is the story of three maiden aunts who are looking forward to a visit from their nephew who unexpectedly turns out to be a niece! Rising out of these unexpected circumstances is a series of complications providing a pleasant hour.

The ensemble, the string section of the orchestra, meets and practices daily while the band is in rehearsal. One day each week, selected players from band meet with them to rehearse as an orchestra. While this is a small group of earnest musicians, it is our sincere hope that string students who have started in elementary school will find it possible to continue, so that in the near future we will have enough string players to form a full symphonic orchestra.

The Band Council serves as a governing body, deciding when disciplinary action should be taken to preserve the spirit and unity of the Band, as well as organizing fund-raising projects to defray expenses of exchange trips.

"Marching The Blues"

Dr. Wiggin pauses to administer individual attention to a student musician.

The high school band of 1958-59, numbering ninety-four participants attractively attired in blue and gold uniforms with twirlers in white and gold, perform for school functions, civic and patriotic parades, Music Festivals, and each year have one exchange concert with a band in a neighboring state. Highlighting each year is the International Music Festival in Montreal. This year's band journeyed to Washington, D. C., where they played in the Cherry Blossom Festival, and a joint concert with the Hyattsville, Maryland, Northwestern High School band. Interesting trips planned for the future are the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, California, and Mardi Gras festivities in New Orleans. In addition to their own school activities, they sponsor each year a nationally known professional band, as the Marine Band or the United States Navy Band of Washington, D. C. Individual members have received superior ratings at Rhode Island and New England Auditions.

SENIOR PLAY

Nanci Bostrom, Student Director, discusses possible line revisions in the play with the faculty directors, Mr. Marinelli and Mr. Smith.

Harvey's mistaking Miss Hillary's attention as more than professional amuses Sam Killion, newspaper reporter.

In the senior play, "Slightly Delinquent," the audience roared at the antics of Harvey Benedict, son of the judge of Juvenile Court. Harvey is fascinated by juvenile delinquents, and while his parents are in Bermuda, he unintentionally gets himself into a dilemma. As a result he becomes the object of a study on the "rejuvenation of a juvenile" by a local newspaper.

At the youth center, Harvey meets a typical delinquent, "Angie," who advises him: "Don't tell 'em nothin'." Hilarious scenes relate Harvey's experiences with the various tests administered by the social workers. When Judge and Mrs. Benedict return, they find, to their horror, that their "darling" son is "Slightly Delinquent."

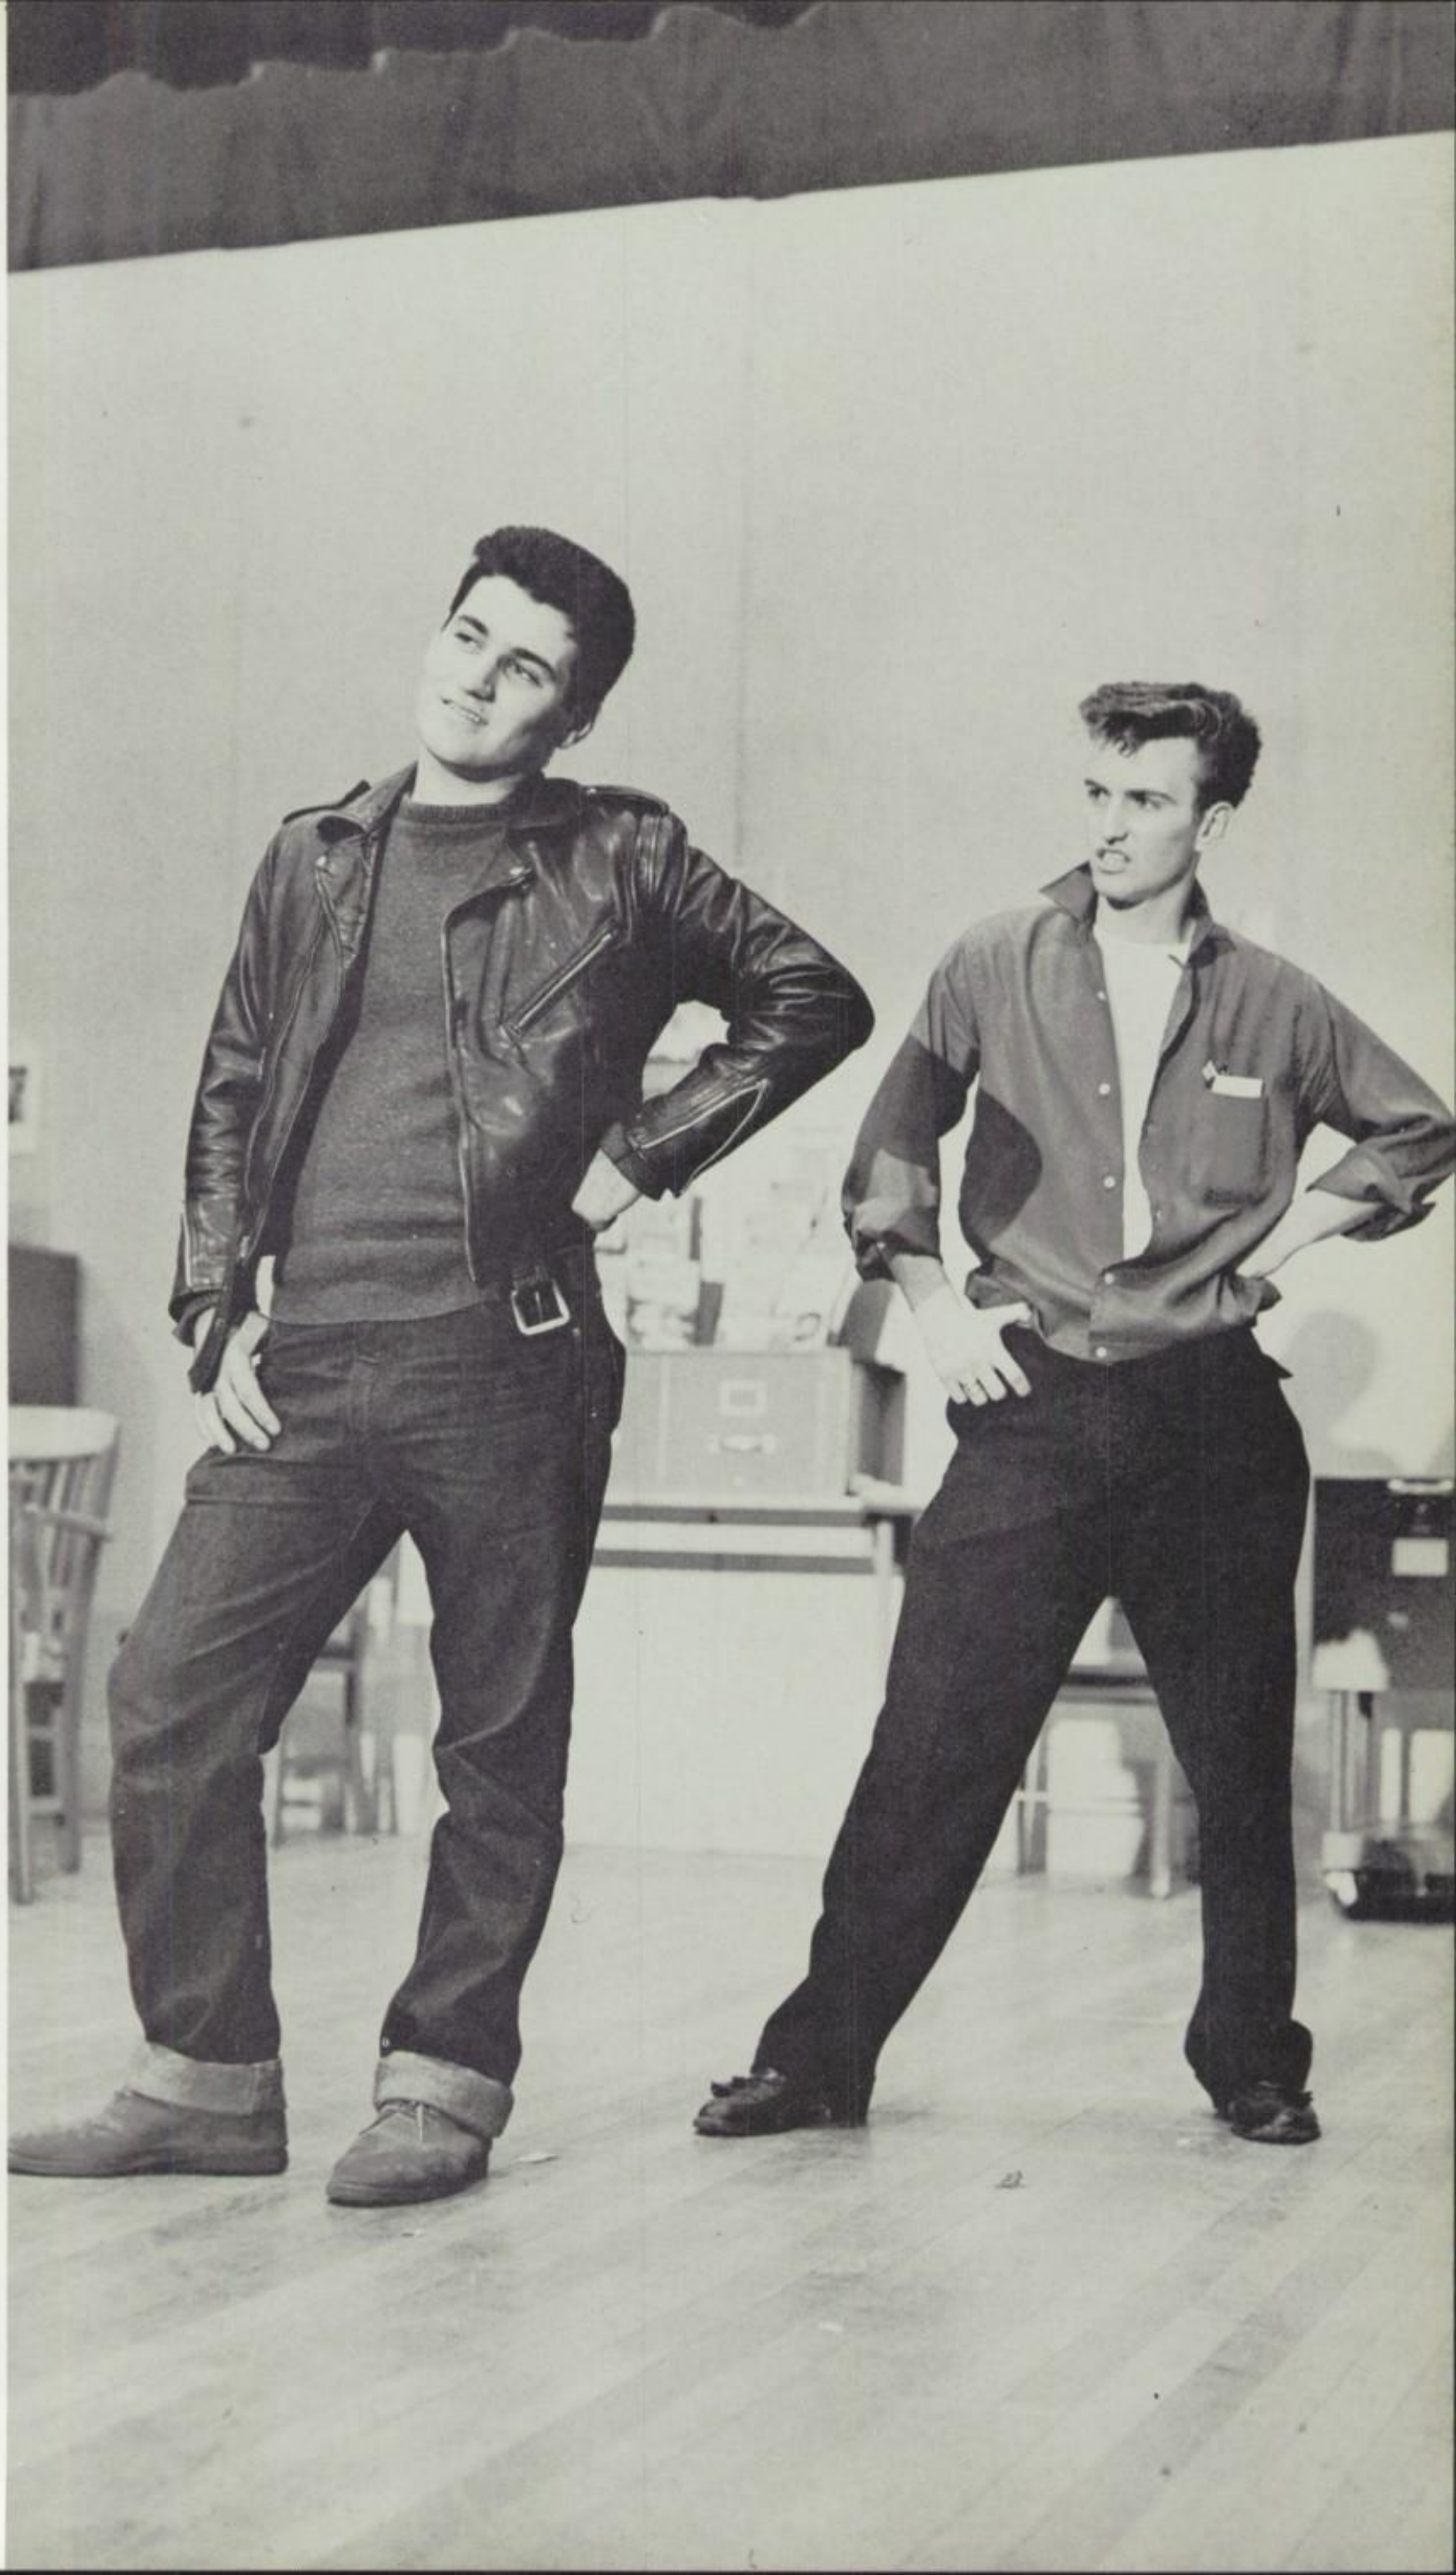
Judge and Mrs. Benedict reclaim their "slightly delinquent" son from the hands of the astonished social workers at the youth center.

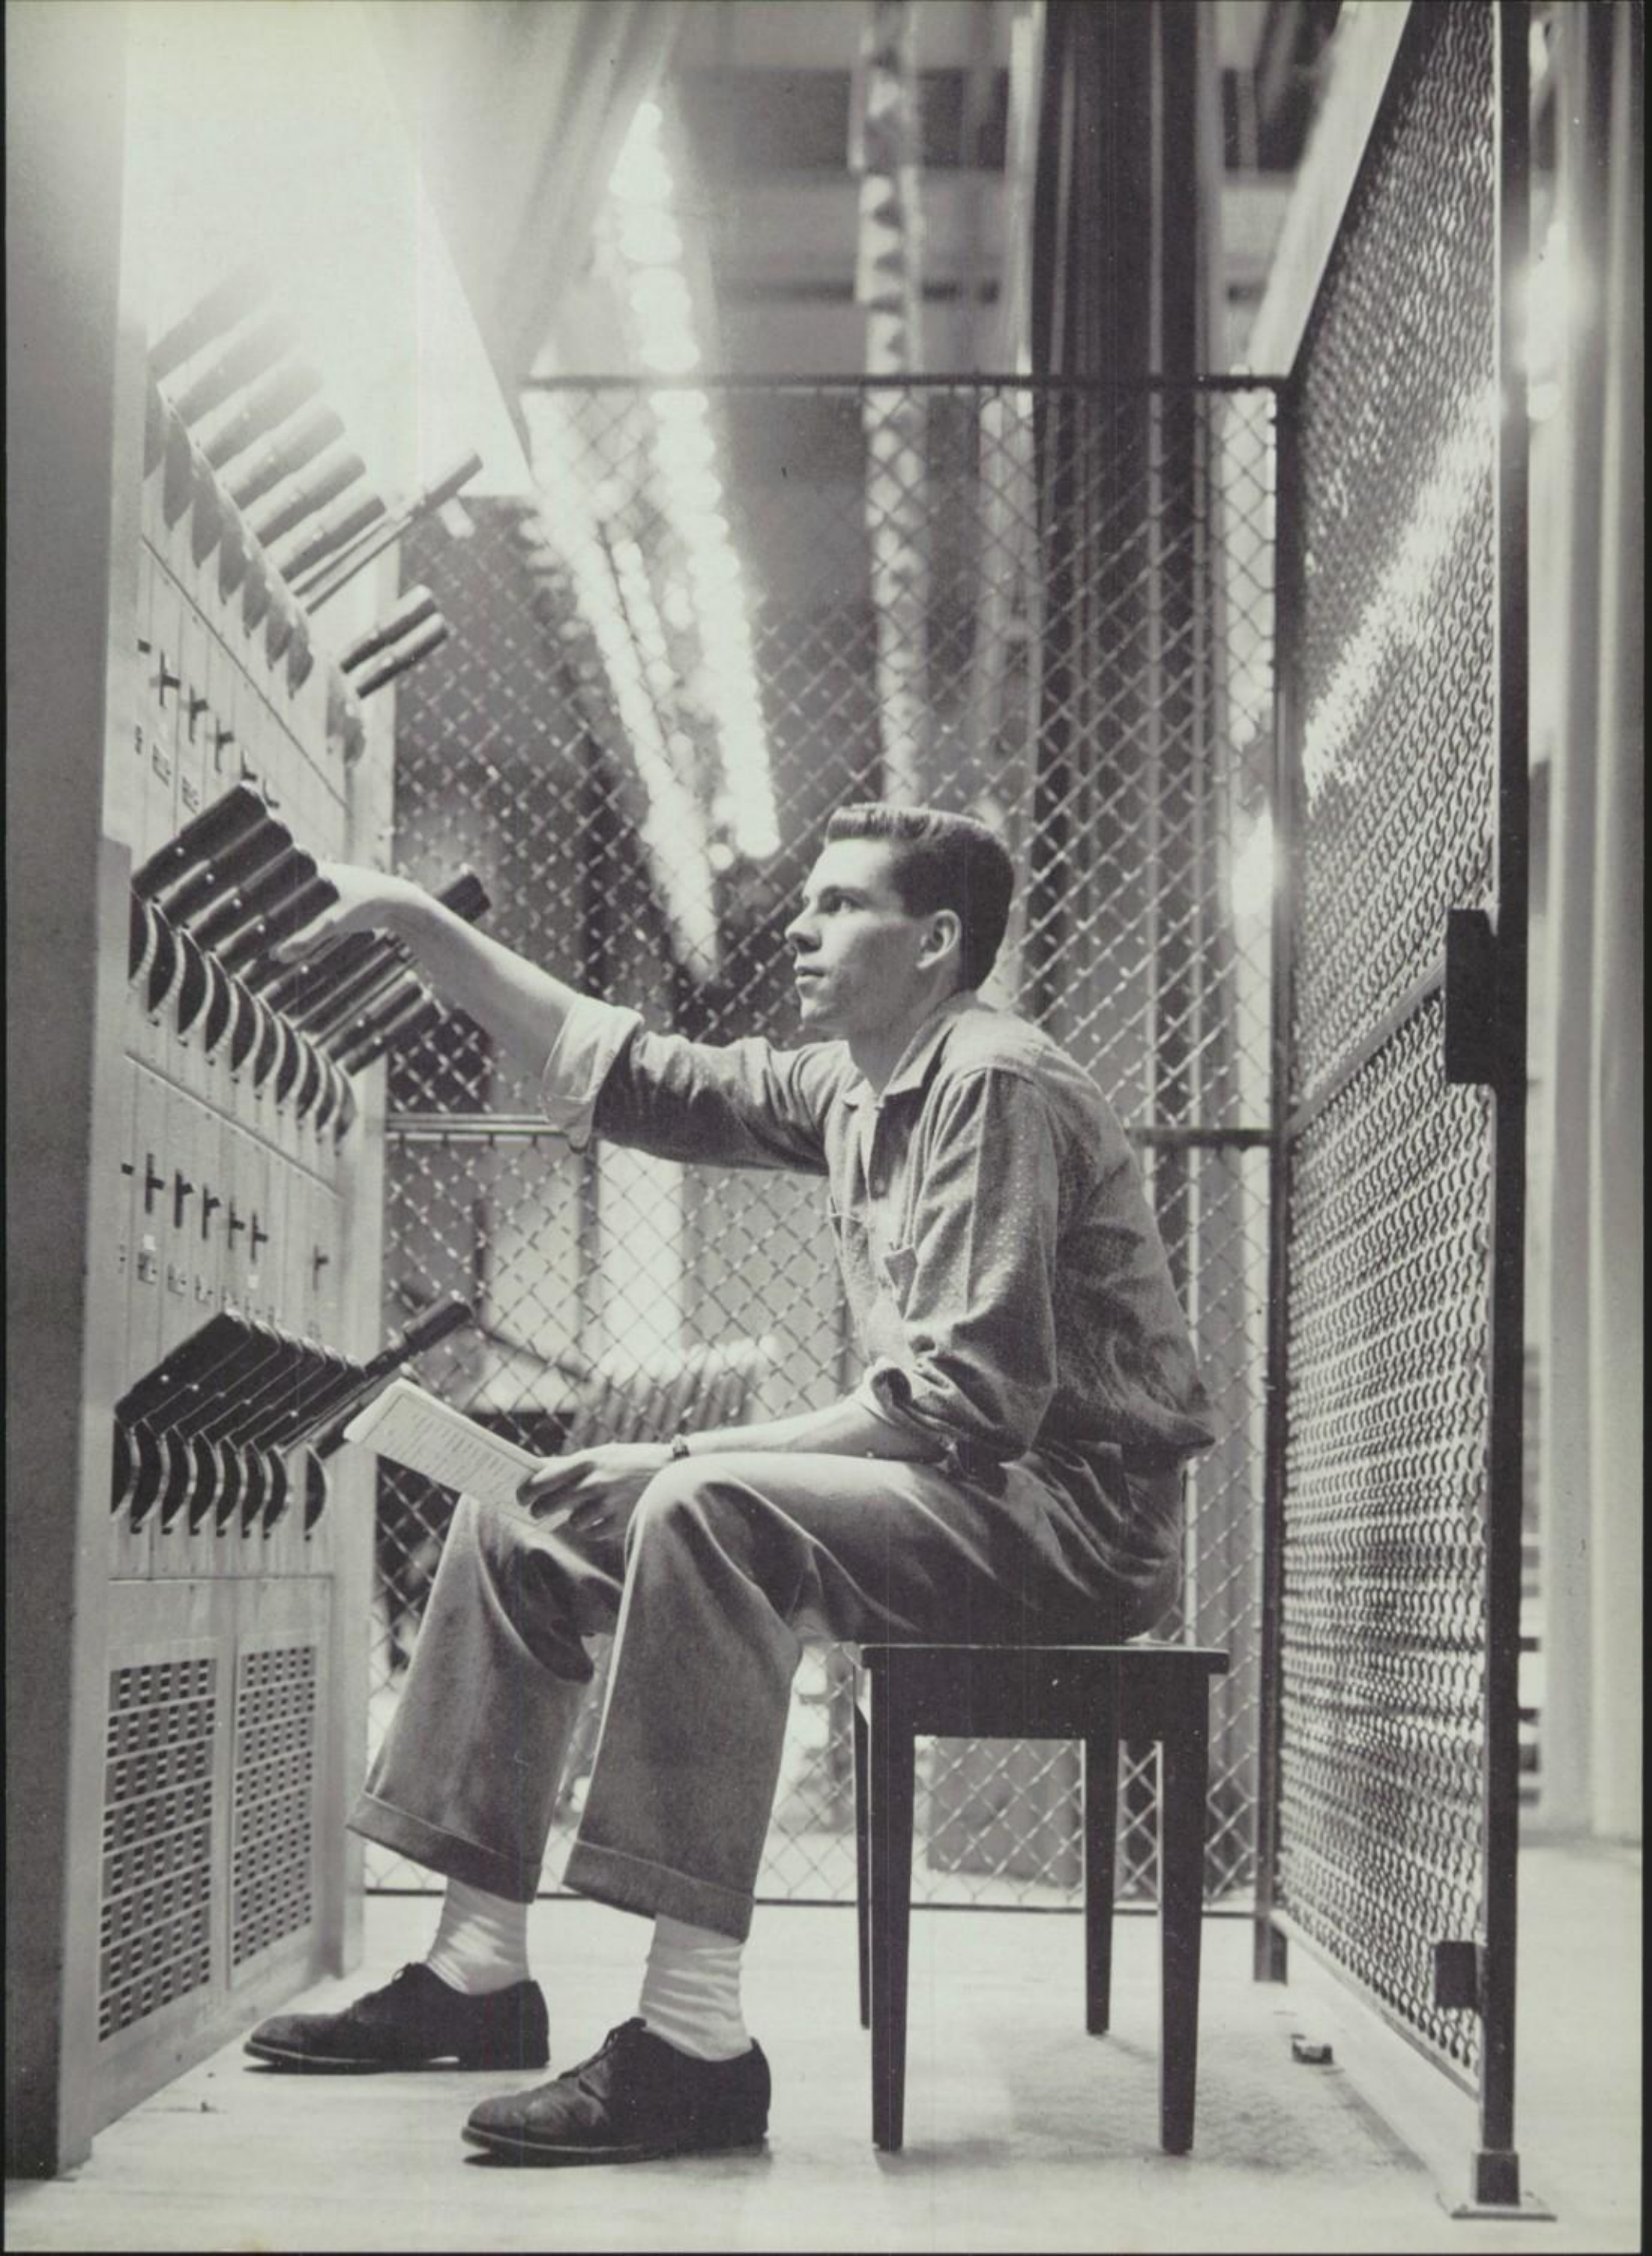


Alan Rydberg, Laura Lupoli, and Charles McLaren, demonstrate the equipment which they have learned to operate.

The purpose for which this group functions is to aid in the production of school assemblies, various dramatic presentations, and musical activities which necessitate knowledge and understanding of lighting, sound, scenery, and props. Members learn the entire procedure involved in a production from laying our light plots to testing and manipulating the sound and amplification system. Without their expert handling of the intra-stage communication system and the elaborate electrical switchboard, the effect of the dramatic presentations would not have been so outstanding.

Lights Out, Curtain Going Up

There are lights to be adjusted, scenery to be set up and microphones to be tested, but the all-important teamwork of this industrious group will make the show run smoothly.



The officers of F.F.A. demonstrate the processes necessary in the preparation of a chicken for market.

The Warwick Chapter of F.F.A. meet in an executive group consisting of J. Morris, Treas.; A. Bremner, Pres.; K. Bailey, V. Pres.; J. Motta, Sec.; and R. Taber, Reporter.

The Future Farmers of America, an agricultural organization under the guidance of Mr. Minard Price, may very well be the means by which we shall one day enjoy the products of these future farmers. The members prepare a schedule to carry them through the busy spring season of numerous activities while profiting from actual experience.

Home and Hospitality

Under the direction of Mrs. Mayor and Mrs. Tyler, the girls in the Home Economics Club develop skill in sewing, cooking, and home management. By participating in various projects concerning their home, their school, and their community, members earn points toward a special award.

The officers of the Home Economics Club add the finishing touches to a chair slipcovered by the group: Karen Sheehan, President; Mrs. Mayor, Advisor; Lucille Randall, Treasurer; Ann Mercurio, Vice-President; Anne Henry, Secretary.

Around the World in 180 Days

As a member of the United Nations Club of the World Affairs Council, the I.R.C. participates in the annual United Nations Day. Each participating club in the state represents a nation, presenting its viewpoints on situations. This year, Warwick represented Norway.

The club also meets weekly with others in the state to discuss current news topics, to hear speakers, and to tape radio programs.

Surrounding the globe, the natural symbol of international relations, are the officers of IRC: Mr. MacLean, William Peotrowski, President; Patricia Nihill, Secretary.

In preparation for the Future Teachers' Valentine's Day party at the Lakeside Home, Mary Caesario shows the completed favors to the membership.

The Future Teachers have been very active this year. Along with their regular activities of discussing different phases of their chosen profession, these girls met with Future Teachers from Hope High School; they visited the grammar schools in this area; and they had a Valentine's Day party for the children at the Lakeside Home. In order to build up the club's treasury, the Girls sold ribbon candy at Christmas. Among their activities during the year was a program for their mothers, a field trip to R.I.C.E., and trips to the specialized schools in Rhode Island.

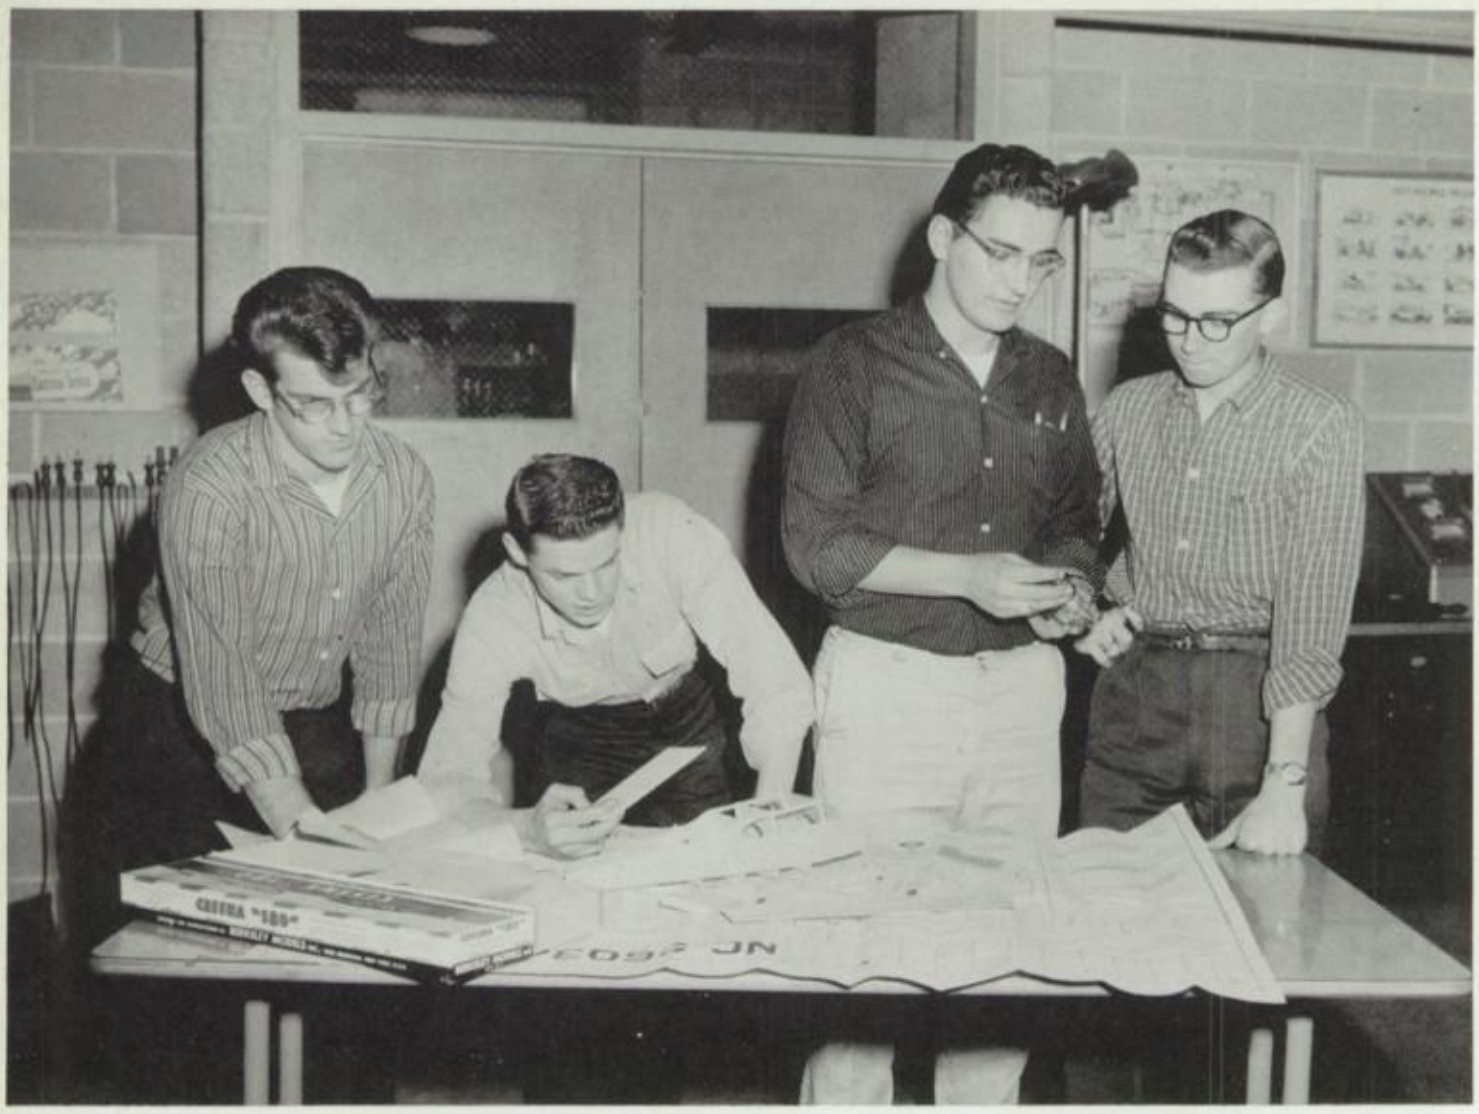
Miss Ross demonstrates the operation of the slide projector to several future teachers.

". . . And Gladly Teach"

"The itsey-bitsey spider went up the water spout . . . " sing Future Teacher officers in an attempt to entertain youngsters at Lakeside Home. The officers are as follows: Jean Hutchinson, Secretary; Sandra Smith, President; Janet Flemming, Treasurer; and Carol Basteen, Vice-President.

Models in Motion

Growing from Mr. Mantyla's D period Power Mechanical Tool Shop Class, this newly-formed group has a deep interest in powered model cars, planes, and boats. The boys buy kits at seven to twenty dollars and spend twenty-five to fifty hours assembling them. In addition, if the boys desire radio control, another fifty dollars plus an F.C.C. license is required. Our surroundings afford all necessary facilities for the operation of the replicas. Knowledge of the structure and operation of actual machines is gained in the work these seven boys do after school and on the club period Friday.



From this chart, some plywood, glue, and a complicated little motor, William Matteson, Robert Skinner, John La Pierre, and Richard Loring hope to create a model well worth their effort.

Mr. Mantyla and Richard Loring look on as John La Pierre attempts to fasten the engine to this airplane.

Under Mr. Mantyla's guiding hand, Robert Skinner tests a model engine.

Awakening Robert Laurens for his next move, Adam Kalfian gives him counsel as to the most clever way to checkmate his stealthy opponent, Pamela Paine.

Battle in Miniature

Chess is an intellectual contest devoid of all chance element. The rudiments are easily and quickly learned; but to acquire skill in the game, study and practice are necessary. Our club, the highest enrollment in the state, has thirty-nine students, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. If the club's previous record is any indication of its work, we can surely expect some fine playing and rousing victories. The record: 96 won; 68 lost; and 3 stalemates.

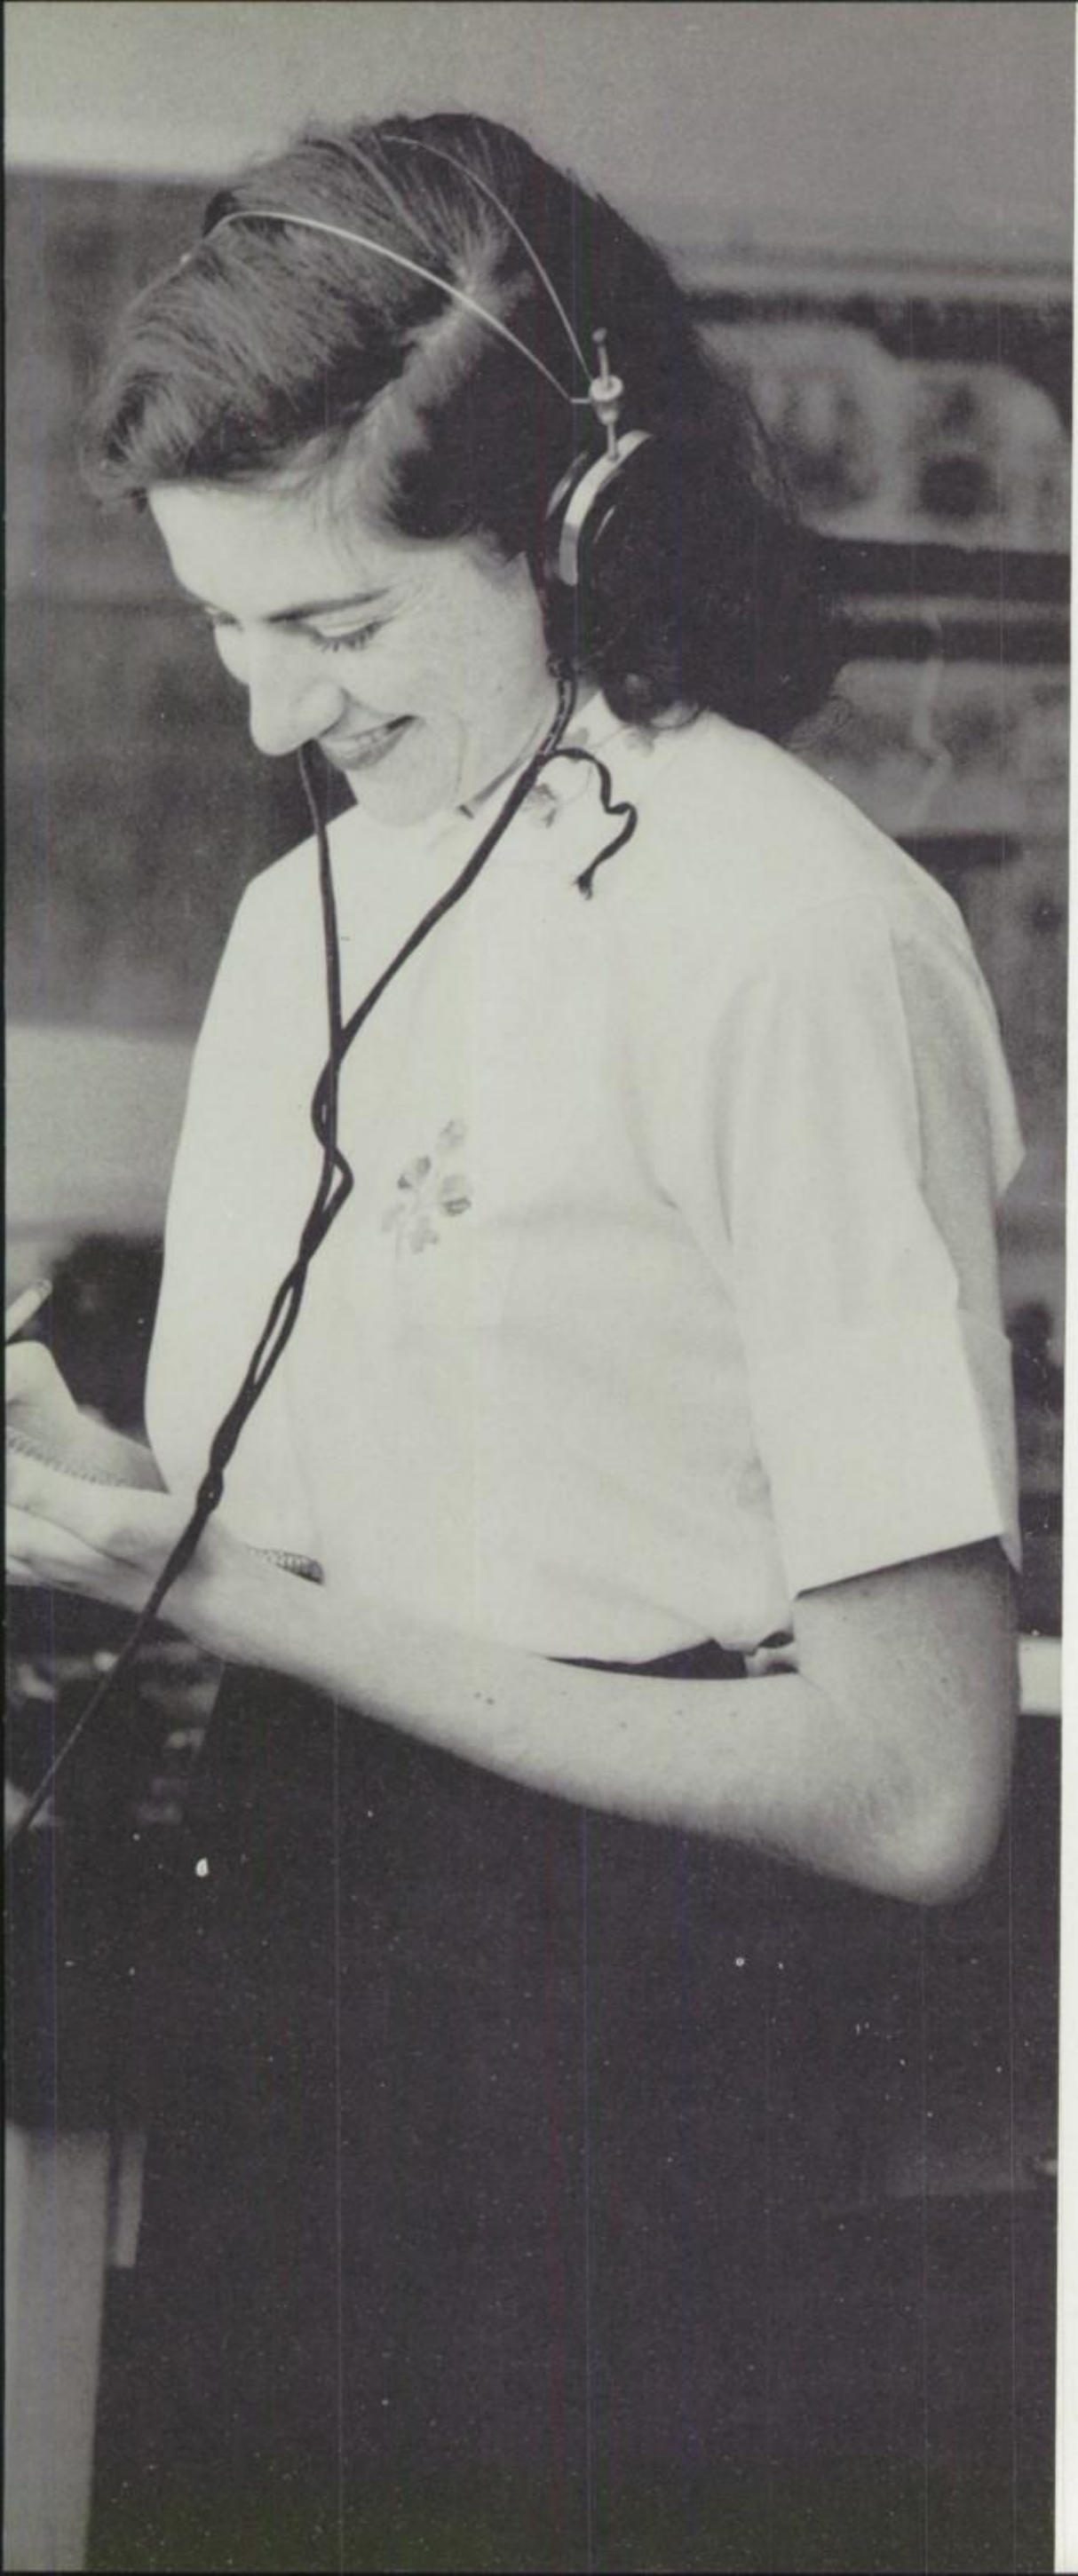
SYLVANIA ELECTRIC



Science is limitless. The many areas comprising the field are at all times related to and dependent upon each other. A study, therefore, of one phase of a particular field results in countless gains throughout the whole of science.

A star above the shadowy horizon seems small and insignificant when viewed from the earthly aspect; yet what innumerable accounts have been given forth to achieve one more step in the ladder of progress. An ant has no place in our thoughts, but his customs and way of life have enveloped men in centuries of research. These and numberless other "giants" which are dismissed in such a disdainful manner, constitute the basis on which science builds.

The quest for further knowledge leads men to fame and to despair. The world of science is so vast as to make mere man seemingly of little consequence. Yet, the underlying importance of science is in the fact that it takes man to unleash such knowledge to humanity. In science is held the power to determine the ways of a searching world.

Doorway to Discovery

To the members of the Science Club, such words as isotope, positron, ionization, and electrolysis are not frightening. Every X-period in C-205, these students, under the able direction of Mr. Rohloff, make scientific history in Warwick. Credit should be given to this group for the excellent reputation it has in the R. I. Science Fair. This year, for the first time, the club is planning to enter the Future Scientists of America Contest.

In a detergent test for the Science Fair supervised by Mr. Rohloff, Laura Lupoli observes that Tide is "just a little bit better than any other washday product."

Anticipating the outcome of an experiment being performed beyond the eye of the camera are the officers of the Science Club — Patricia Skene, President; Linwood Smith, Vice President; Barbara Smith, Secretary; and Donald Mischke, Treasurer.

Awaiting the start of one of their regular meetings are these members of the Science Club.

Ohms, Watts, and Amps

Under the supervision of Mr. McKeon, the boys belonging to the Electronics Club have an opportunity to construct and repair electronic equipment. Through individual projects, such as the construction and maintenance of hi-fi sets and radios, their interests and skills acquired here often form the nucleus for advanced study in electronics and related fields.

Richard Kufel, Henry Hebert, and John Wetherall investigate the properties of standing waves as demonstrated by Mr. McKeon.

The Biology Club is open to all second semester Biology I or Biology II students. There are panel discussions, individual projects, visits to near-by laboratories and universities, and speakers on current topics to keep the members interested.

The members of the Biology Club are: L. Nyberg, A. Doucet, B. Kling, N. Wetherell, J. Ahlejian, M. Callahan, and B. Fishlock.

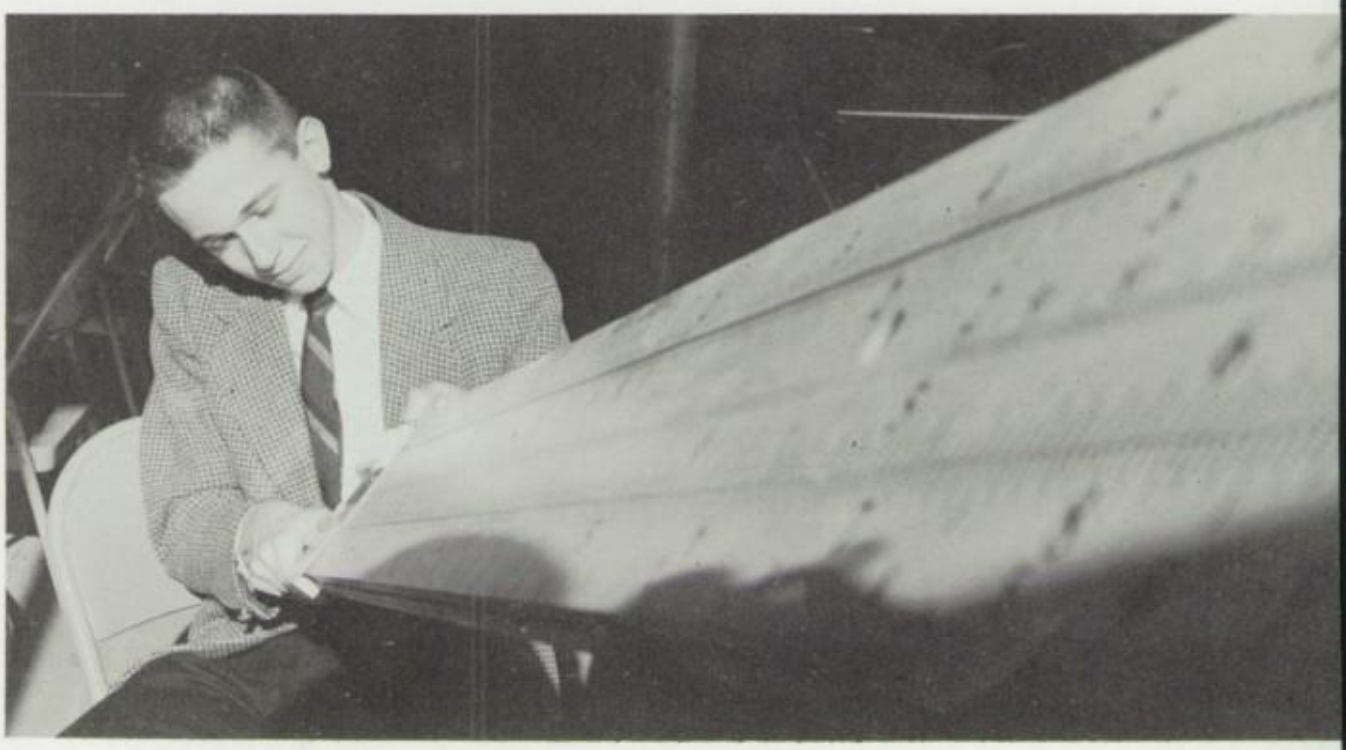
Under the guidance of Mr. Carello, the Slide Rule Club has the aspect of a voluntary class situation in which students acquire skill in manipulating the slide rule which will aid them greatly in high school math classes and later in college and advanced studies. Dedicated sophomores have seized this opportunity as a club project which is actually an informal class study group.

Receiving instruction from Mr. Carello in the use of the slide rule are K. Comey, J. Feroce, A. Smith, J. Stevens, R. Vaughn.



Joseph Feroce demonstrates his skill with the slide rule on a large scale.

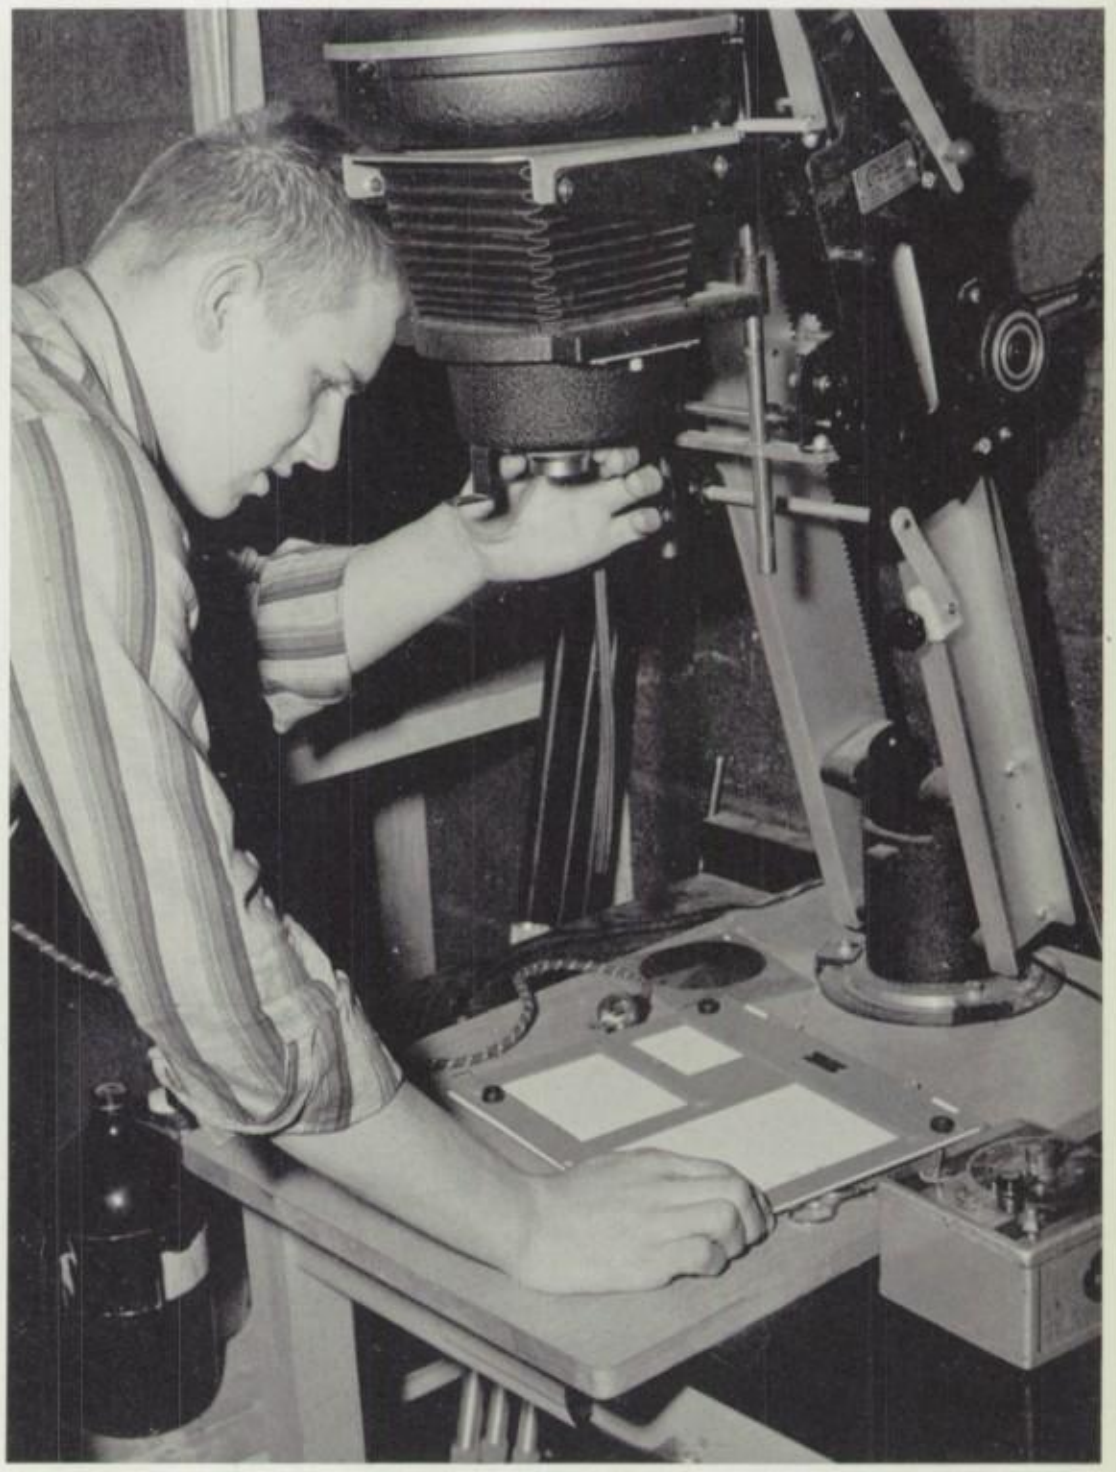
At every school function may be found a member of the Photography Club, snapping pictures for the Hurricane Herald or for his own use and experience. Through their meetings they have become skilled in the use of many types of cameras, in the actual photography, and in the development of film. Mr. De Luca and the boys spend much time in C-205 experimenting with lighting, subjects, and snapping shutters, and in the well-equipped dark room where negatives are developed.

Mr. De Luca poses as members of the Photography Club, Richard Bourgeois and Harold Crossley, practice effective photography.

Richard Bourgeois adjusts his camera for the next picture in which Mr. De Luca will be the prime target.



Focusing the lens of the enlarger, Harold Crossley centers the photography paper in order that his picture will have an even margin and a clear subject.

Athletics is one of youth's great natural desires. For beyond the physical stamina and skill one gains self-confidence, a sense of teamwork, a spirit of 'give and take,' and mutual friendships. Thus it is that an important part of a high school which is to live fondly in the memory of its students lies in the quality of its athletic program.

No activity, however, can flourish without leaders. Warwick is fortunate in having men willing to give their time and effort in coaching the boys of the school to be better athletes and persons. As we cheer on Warwick's teams, the honor falls on the stars, the outstanding players, and little is heard about the men who taught them and made them heroes. But behind every great team stands a great coach. This coach often holds more influence over a boy than any other person during high school, for a boy looks up to him as a leader, as someone to follow and try to please. One man in particular has devoted his energy to making Warwick's athletic system one of the best in New England. Mr. John McGiveney, athletic director, has earned the respect of the student body and their indebtedness for the enthusiasm, spirit, and recognition he has brought to our city.

It is fitting that we open our athletic section by a tribute to the coaches who have made that section possible:

1st row: Karl R. Rittman, Tennis; Edward J. Roth, Football; Raymond W. Carroll, Baseball; Joseph E. McKeon, Golf; Robert E. Miller, Football, Track; John J. McGiveney, Athletic Director.

Hurricanes Triumph

Victory!

Glory and honor were brought to Warwick Veterans Memorial High School by the Hurricane's championship team. Tied for first place, they shared top honors with Mt. Pleasant in Class A football.

From the pre-season predictions, Warwick was rated as a potential threat, and hopes were high that 1958 would be the year the "blue and white" would prevail. The school boy Round Robin proved an indication that reports were true. For the last few years, Warwick has been beaten by their non-league rival, West Warwick; but this fall an overflowing crowd witnessed West Warwick's defeat, 7-0.

With the victory over LaSalle, our team gained both a physical and moral victory. An arch-enemy for years, LaSalle has proved itself one of the toughest teams to beat.

The community gathered behind the Hurricanes in full force and supported the team with heavy attendance and enthusiastic cheering at both home and away-from-home games. Warwick's one setback to Mt. Pleasant was disappointing, but the team renewed its fight for the championship at the next game with new vigor, proving they were not quitters. Frank Halliwell and Ray Choiniere captained the team on its road to victory. Head Coach Miller taught the boys much of their skill and sportsmanship.

Warwick's natural talent and teamwork led to four of its players being chosen for the All-State Team by the Providence Journal-Bulletin Staff and one, Donald Lynch, nominated for All-American High-School Team. A great end to a great season.

Don Lynch, who received honorable mention for All-American, was voted Warwick's Most Valuable Player. A tackle, Lynch led the defensive team in fine blocking and tackling which enabled us to hold the opponent's line and to give our offense a clear field for running.

Jim Lyons, end, was one of the best pass-receivers in the state. The team of Connors and Lyons often pulled Warwick out of danger by tough aerial assaults.

The crowd is tense with excitement at the moment of the opening kick-off of our game with LaSalle.

With the score tied, Coach Miller gives a word of encouragement to Jimmy Robinson before sending him in at this crucial moment of the game.

It's half-time, as the band, in "W" formation, salutes the Warwick stands with one of their favorite numbers, "Marching the Blues."

"GO WARWICK, GO WARWICK, FIGHT — FIGHT!" This rhythmic cheer echoes through the stands spurring the team on to victory.

The game is over and the victors have also won admiring glances from Shirley Bouchard and Jocelyn Kenney as these Hurricanes, Tom Murray, Doug Kerwin, Alan Caito, and Don Lynch relax after the game.

"Yeah, coach, that sure was a tough game!" agrees Paul Lavallee as they leave the field after a well-earned victory.

Football Banquet

Our photographer catches a rather embarrassed Leo O'Donnell as cheerleader Joan Souther helps him prepare for the banquet.

At the close of the season the Hurricanes were honored at a banquet sponsored by the Warwick Boosters Club. Thirty-one players received letter jackets and several were singled out for individual honors. Ray Choiniere, Co-captain, accepted the championship plaque for the team; Frank Halliwell, Co-captain, was presented with the Best Sportsmanship Trophy. Bill Connors received the award for the outstanding football player in Kent County; Ray Stone, the Football Scholarship Trophy; Don Lynch, the Most Valuable Player Award.

Among the guests seated at the main table are: Mayor Raymond E. Stone, William E. Powers, Mr. Scott, Mr. Hobbs; Mrs. Miner, Mr. Revens, Mr. Nolan of the School Committee; Dr. Walter Jusczyk of Brown University; Ambrose Smith, Pawtuxet Valley Times; Walter Henry, Rec. Dir.; Mr. McGiveny.

The three hundred and fifty people who witnessed the ceremonies heard Steve Sinko, head football coach at Boston University, give the main address of the night. Supreme Court Justice William E. Powers was toastmaster. Other speakers included Mayor Raymond E. Stone; George J. Bastian, chairman of the Boosters Club; Coach Miller; Principal Harold F. Scott; and Dick Reynolds, School Boy Sportswriter of the Providence Journal-Bulletin. Movies of the Thanksgiving Cranston-Warwick game were shown to the audience.

Hurricanes and coaches recall a key play in their successful season at the testimonial banquet given in their honor.

Junior Varsity Football

J.V. Football, under the coaching of Mr. Shola, is a training team for underclassmen who hope to play on the varsity squad. Due to the overlapping sessions this year, Warwick's team had very limited practice sessions and thus was unable to produce a winning record. In playing J.V. teams like LaSalle, Hope, and East Providence, the boys gain experience and confidence on the field enabling Mr. Miller to start with seasoned players on the varsity team.

Coach Shola discusses the potentiality of the junior-varsity team for next year's first string with Co-captains R. Porcelli and J. Carroll.

Football Cheerleaders

Part of a school's pride in its football team rests on the quality and spirit of the cheerleaders. '58 saw one of the peppiest group of girls in the state cheering on Warwick's "Hurricanes." Led by Captain Sandy Nordin and Co-Captain Judy Neal, the cheerleaders would often arrive home from a game barely able to talk after the excitement of the race for Warwick's first championship.

During half time, the cheerleaders radiate the winning spirit of a championship team.

Captain Judy Neal and Co-captain Janet O'Brien led the basketball cheerleaders in their drills during the regular league season. Wearing snappy uniforms of blue and white, the squad made a pleasant attraction for both spectators and the team during its time-out performances.

One of the most important parts of a basketball game is the spirit instituted by the Varsity Cheerleaders: Joyce Williams, Donna Coppage, Betty Anderson, Janet O'Brien, Merry Farrell, Cindy Mattson, Beverly Bernier, Carrie Miller.

Basketball, a popular indoor sport, had many followers from Warwick in '59. On Tuesday and Friday nights, the gym was usually crowded with spectators watching our talented team pit its experience and wits against Class A rivals. Although the season as a whole was not very successful in the scoring column, Warwick lost many close ones and provided excitement for its supporters.

One of the best games of the season was the defeat of Cranston, 65 to 60, at our gym. Only in the last minutes of play did our team come through with its great triumph. Coach Hall aided the players in strategy and skill, and Kenneth Carlson was Warwick's elected captain.

Flan Pilkington, a promising junior, stretches in an all-out effort to take possession of the ball.

As tension mounts, Coach Hall encourages his men with a few last-minute tips.

Tall tales of Warwick's tall team are told by this tall twosome, Mr. Nordyke and S. Holcombe.

Junior Varsity Basketball

Under the coaching of Mr. Nordyke, Warwick's J.V. team became a state basketball power. The winning combination was captained by Steve Holcombe and managed by Steve Davis, who led the J.V.'s to a league record of 17 wins and 1 loss—showing great potential for next year's varsity team. Rogers handed them their one defeat of the season but this took little of the glory from one of the greatest J.V. teams Warwick has ever produced.

One of the true northern sports, hockey, is a rugged, exciting game which claims many Rhode Island fans. Warwick's hockey team under the coaching of Mr. Crawley and Mr. Carello practiced long, weary hours to keep in condition. Some mornings saw the boys rising at three or four in the morning to skate at an available rink. The team plays in the Schoolboy Hockey League at the Rhode Island Auditorium. Warwick is not as yet experienced or strong enough to constitute a real threat in the league. However, there have been many close battles and enough wins to make Warwick hopeful for an emerging strength on the ice.

A strong wrestling team finished another great season with a second place (out of 12 schools) in the Brown Interscholastic Wrestling Tournament held at Marvel Gymnasium. Don Lynch in the unlimited and John Angell in the 147 lb. group won top honors in their respective classes as they did in regular meets all season. Jim Engstrom, another strong contender, and Don Lynch were Captains of the team which was coached by Mr. Shola through the long practice sessions and the schoolboy meets. Larry Coleman, Jim Noon, John Phillips and Tom Murray were other point-getters in the matches. As the Gryphon went to press, a total of 18 medals had been won by the team. The New England Trials were coming up and Coach Shola seemed hopeful that a few additional medals would be won. Don Lynch and John Angell were named to the All-State Team; Jim Engstrom, 157 lb. class, and Larry Coleman, 167 lb. class, made the second All-State Team; while Jim Noon, 127 lb. class, and John Phillips, 133 lb. class, were on the third team.

Cross Country

Displaying the tools of their skill are Billy Brookes and Tom Taylor with pole vaults, and Ken Carlson with a javelin.

Coach Johnson's cross country team broke even with five wins and five losses during the fall track season. Cross Country covers a distance of from three to five miles and those who join the team must put in hours of conditioning to endure the strain of long-distance running. Leading the team in points this year were Ray Sauer, Charlie Miga, Harold Gardiner, and Andy Anderson.

Indoor Track

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Miller coach indoor track which includes ten different events—the mile run, high hurdles, low hurdles, 100 yd. and 600 yd. runs, 300 yd. and 400 yd. dashes, high jump, shot put, and discus. Track requires endurance and coordination; thus many hours are spent by the team in practice. Dick St. John has proved a champion this year in the high jump by his victories at the schoolboy meets and was Warwick's only entry in a National Track Meet at Madison Square Garden. Earl St. John, his brother, offered close competition in the high jump. D. Lynch, F. Halliwell, J. Lyons, J. Boylan, R. Allen, N. Rainone, R. Lemieux, B. Bockstael, E. Callahan, T. O'Grady, T. Cole, and Smith also scored well for the team. This season was not a victorious one; however, the squad came through with good showings in the various competitive meets gaining a fourth place in the league.

Taking a breather from "swing" training, the golf team: T. Lennon, P. Lavallee, M. Neri, Coach McKeon, T. Shannon, and D. Kirwin, await the arrival of warmer weather and with it, spring sports.

Golf

Golf is one of the most rewarding sports offered to boys at Warwick High, for it can be played in later years with as much fun and usually more skill. Mr. McKeon coaches the team in the exacting sport, getting them ready for competition with other schools in the spring.

Tennis

Mr. Rittman coaches the tennis team which competes both intramurally and interscholastically. Early in the fall Warwick holds a school tennis tournament which is open to any boy in gym class. The last two years the trophy has been won by Ray Sauer, number one man on the regular team. The squad is ranked one through six; each boy plays an opponent according to his rank. Charlie Miga, Pete Lockwood, Bob Laurens, Steve Hackett, Dick Joly, and Larry Very, all members of last year's team, have both skill and former competition behind them. Although many of the state's tennis teams have lost their experienced and valuable men, Warwick retains the nucleus of last year's team; therefore, a very successful season looms into view.

At an informal get-together, the tennis team reviews with Coach Rittman previous matches.

Mr. Rittman gives Larry Very, a senior member of the team, a few pointers on how to improve his grip.

Baseball

In the past three years, Warwick has had one of the finest baseball teams in the state — once bringing the State Championship to our school. Coached by Mr. Carroll and Mr. Jusczyk, the team shows good form in its practice sessions and many believe that '59 is going to be another big year for Warwick. Many of the boys who played on last year's team are turning out for the new squad. These are Bill Connors and Jim Thibeault in the outfield; Paul Maresca, Ed Golato, and Jim Robinson in the infield; Bill Kelly and Frank Silva as pitchers; and Al Caito and Ray Choiniere as catchers.

Lettermen's Club

All boys who have won letters in Warwick's sports program are entitled to join the Lettermen's Club. This organization under the supervision of Mr. Miller was formed for the purpose of promoting athletics on the schoolboy level. The members sell coke and candy at sporting events, award trophies to outstanding athletes, hold two big social highlights, the Lettermen's Dance and the Lettermen's Banquet. Don Lynch, the Club's President, is aided by Ray Choinere, Vice-President; Jim Lyons, Treasurer; Frank Halliwell, Secretary; and Al Caito, Social Chairman. A field trip associated with sports planned for the late spring is its last scheduled event of '59.

Badminton

Indoor badminton differs from the backyard variety played by most children and adults at one time or another; for it is a sport which requires stamina, skill, and wit in which a winner usually outwits his opponent instead of using sheer physical strength. Definite rules govern the game much like the rules of tennis. Every Wednesday night the Advanced Badminton Club practices at school in preparation for the main event of the year, the Rhode Island Badminton Tourney. In the past two years we have had many club members in the finals and semi-finals. Leonard Johnson won the boys' singles State Championship in '57 and was runner-up in '58.

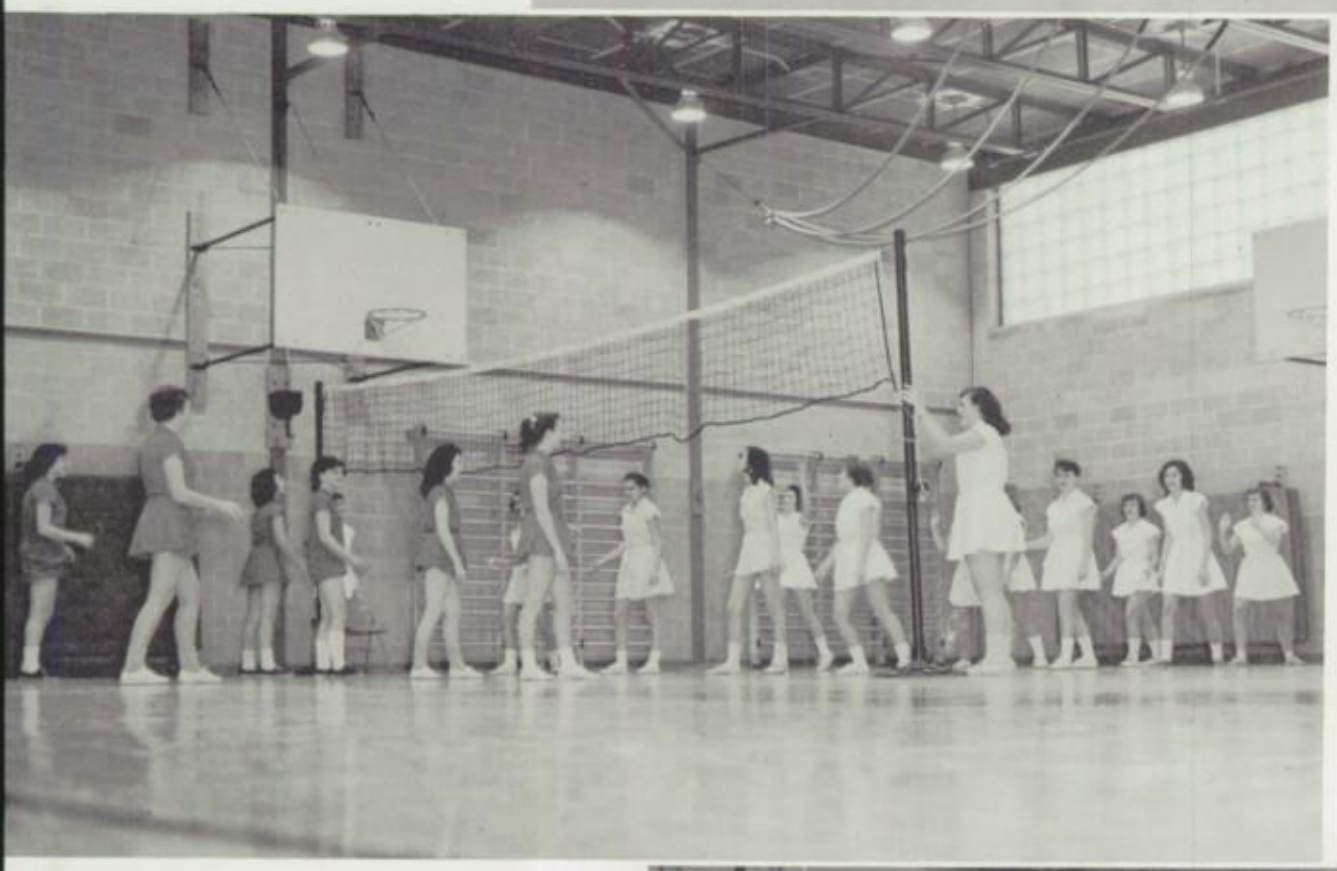
Girls' Sports

Field Hockey, a vigorous sport, attracts many girls for afternoon practice which culminates in interscholastic field days.



Returning the ball requires teamwork as proved by these volleyball contestants who anxiously await their turn to strike back.

Although girls do not have organized competitive teams, a diversified, general sports program is carried out by the gym staff. Most afternoons some sport is offered for any who wish to have fun and to gain skill. Tennis, volleyball, basketball, badminton, archery, and field hockey are the major sports supervised by Mrs. Downs, Miss Staniunas, Miss Fitch, and Miss Sirr in the girls' gym.

Tennis is another popular attraction for sports enthusiasts.

The big buildup . . . for the bang of a letdown!

Girls' Leaders Corps

Girls' Leaders Corps is an organization for the development of girls' athletic ability and leadership qualities. Entrance to the club is on a competitive basis, a written test and an athletic test where girls are graded on poise, command, and ability. A white uniform distinguishes the club members who help in gym classes and the various girls' sports. This year they sponsored a Dad-Daughter Sports Night, a Mother-Daughter Banquet, and the highlight of the season, a Gym Exhibition. On these pages the girls exhibit their many athletic skills.

For the annual gym exhibition, Leaders Corps girls practice one of the intricate formations.

Fencing Club

The ancient sport of fencing has recently seen a revival in the United States, and some high schools are incorporating it in their sports program. In Warwick, about one hundred girls and eight boys have banded together under the supervision and teaching of Mrs. Downs in a club which offers growing skill in the sport. The gym teachers have taken lessons at Brandeis University and thus are able to help the more advanced fencers as well as beginners. This year, representatives of the club have entered tournaments in the Fencing League of America, at Brandeis University, and have participated in the exchange weekend with the Leaders Corps of Masuk High School, Monroe, Connecticut.

Advanced senior and junior members exhibit the form and technique that takes them to the fencing meets at Brandeis every year.

Sophomore members learn the fundamentals of fencing in preparation for their first matches.

The drill team has performed on request before such organizations as the P.T.A. and other fencing clubs.

Dance Club

Miss Staniunas heads the Dance Club where girls find expression in movement to rhythm and develop grace and balance as a result of the demanding exercises and dance steps. The club is divided into two sections, beginners (sophomores) and more advanced students, who meet regularly on Monday afternoons. Also, the Rockettes, a part of the club, added the chorus line members to the annual Musical Revue.

Rehearsing for the "Sleigh Ride" number presented in the Musical Revue, are some members of the Dance Club: J. Pelli, I. Retzloff, N. Ellis, N. Gardiner, B. Tubman, J. Duff, D. Therault, J. Hudon, and M. Makin.

Class of 1959

Within a very short time after the opening of school in September, more and more seniors became interested in school events as the scope of activities broadened. Both literary publications, the Hurricane Herald and the Gryphon, carried on intensive campaigns for financial support; and the results were so astounding that the newspaper is now issued semi-monthly and the yearbook has an advance sale of 1400 copies.

The realization of a co-championship in football paved the way for future Warwick gridiron greats as the other athletic squads looked on with envy. The Mistletoe Hop in December with its brightly decorated Christmas trees, rhythmic music, and lovely gowns marked the high point of the social season. Capturing the fancy of a sell-out audience was the hilarious Senior Play which created a happy glow of healthy prosperity to the class treasury.

As seniors approached a busy Senior Week with the Prom, the Class Banquet, Class Day, and finally, Graduation, we hope that their memories of an exciting year will be enriched by a glimpse of the 1959 Gryphon.

Rhode Island Honor Society

Eighty-three members of the senior class, or fifteen per cent, were honored as electives to the R. I. Honor Society, April 7th. For the first time in the history of Warwick Schools tribute was paid to the new members at an evening affair instead of the usual school assembly. The principal speaker was Dr. Knute Larson, principal of Cranston High School, and pins were presented to the members. Following the program a tea was sponsored by the faculty of the high school.

National Merit Scholarship

Justly proud of their accomplishments, are two of the Rhode Island semi-finalists for National Merit Scholarships, Russell McKenna and Patricia Skene. Also commended for superior performance on this qualifying test are Leo Saulnier and Paul Hargraves. (Above: P. Skene, L. Saulnier, R. McKenna, P. Hargraves).

Westinghouse Honor Roll

Barbara Smith and Patricia Skene, outstanding students of math and science, brought acclaim to our school by achieving positions on the Westinghouse Honor Roll. To attain this recognition in this Science Talent Search it was necessary for the girls to write a theme concerning a scientific project and to take an examination.

D. A. R. Award

Judith Jones was selected by the senior girls and members of the faculty to be the recipient of the D.A.R. award, the highest honor bestowed upon a girl in the class. This award is granted each year to the girl who has shown outstanding qualities of leadership, character, scholarship, patriotism, and dependability.

In her junior year, Judy served as Vice-President of Student Council and also was a delegate to the convention of the National Association of Student Councils in Missouri. This year she has excelled both in her position as President of our Student Council, and as Vice President of the State Student Council. As Co-Editor of the Gryphon, Judy spent innumerable hours contributing her talents to the publication of this book. Her success in all that she has undertaken is the final proof of her worthiness for this honor.

Youth is for young people.
It is a time of unrestrained laughter, gleeful smiles,
and embarrassed distress.
It is the time to live the memories that warm our hearts
throughout the years.
It is the time to build the friendships that endure
a lifetime of use.
It is the time to remember and to think, for truly,
"... the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

SENIOR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The diversified activities of the Senior Class are capably coordinated by the Senior Executive Committee. Each guidance class elects a delegate and an alternate to assure representation at each meeting. Sessions are conducted by the class officers during which problems and ideas drawn from the individual guidance classes are discussed and acted upon. All seniors are welcome to attend any of these meetings. Final decisions concerning the class gift, banquet, prom, play, and graduation are reached by the executive committee.

1st row: J. Williams, A. Canham, P. Page, C. Hoover, J. Souther, D. Trottier, J. Scott, J. Webster.
2nd row: J. Gilmartin, M. Geiser, M. Marcello, D. Hartman, R. Choiniere, W. Connors.

"Take an Older Sister's Advice..."

"IT'S SMART to line up job interviews well in advance of graduation. And one of the best places I know to contact is the Telephone Company. Several of us from my graduating class are working here — and every one of us loves it."

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience. The pay is good, and you'll get regular raises.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.

Reserve

George,

In the past year that we have gone together, I don't think that anything has ever meant quite so much to me. All the times we've had together have been so wonderful. The many times you have gotten jealous of me, well, maybe you don't know all the times I've been jealous of you. You and all your (friends). George, I know this summer is going to be even happier than last summer. At least I won't be away for most of the week.

RESERVE

I can hardly wait for school to end tomorrow, so we can begin our summer vacation together. Next year we'll be seniors which means we can do so much more. I enjoyed going to all the social activities so much this year, because it was with you of course. I hope that we will continue to go together next year (just between you and I, I know we will) George, many people have wished your luck, and I know I am too! Best of everything to you, and here's hoping we don't have any more fights! It's always fun to be with you George.

Love always,
Lynda
